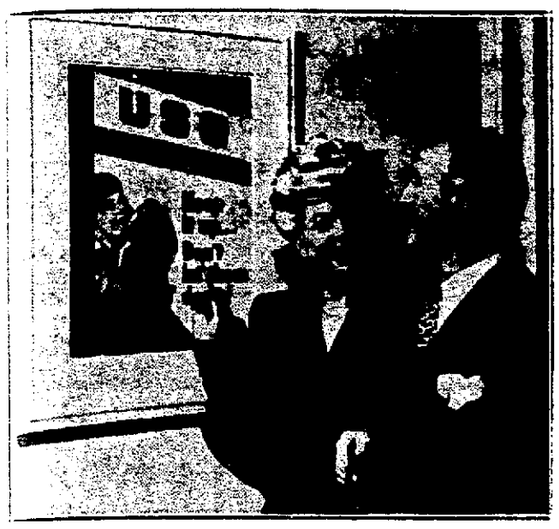
USO Again To Share in Marion Community Foundation Drive



The official poster of the USO campaign this year is pictured above with Frances Langford, veteran of five years of USO tours, and Howard Renwick, who has contributed the posters for the three USO campaigns.

National Agency To Entertain Soldiers To Receive $6,800 in Campaign.

This is one of a series of articles to be published in The Star to acquaint its readers with activities of the Marion Community Foundation, which will conduct its annual fund campaign Oct. 21-31. The campaign goal is $67,190. Your fair share is a day's pay.

Marion county residents are being asked to contribute $6,800 to the USO (United Service Organizations) this year to finish the big program it conducted during the war.

If the annual campaign of the Marion Community Foundation Oct. 21 to 31 reaches its $67,190 goal, the USO automatically will receive $6,800 of that amount, since it is one of the eight agencies represented in the Foundation's drive this fall.

The war is over, but the job of the USO continues—to serve the men overseas, the men in hospitals and the young inductees in training. To keep USO clubs, lounges and camp shows in operation through 1947 will require $19,000,000. Marion county's fair share of that amount is $6,800.

The USO is one of the four National agencies which all Marion county residents will be asked to support. The other three are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the United Seamen's Service, an organization which provides for the men of the Merchant Marine the same type of comforts and programs offered to servicemen by the USO. The other four agencies represented in this year's drive primarily operate within the corporate limits of Marion city, and donations for their activities are to be sought from Marion city residents or persons who earn their livelihood in Marion.

Hundreds of Marion county's returned GI's who came in contact with the USO in their years of military service have brought back warm testimonials of the work this organization is doing. The funds sought this year are for a continuation of this work among the men still in uniform, particularly those stationed overseas and those confined in hospitals.

McKeever Is Denied New Trial at Kenton

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 11 — Motion for a new trial for Harry McKeever Jr., who was convicted of manslaughter Oct. 3 by a Hardin county jury of six men and six women, was denied Thursday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Arthur D. Tudor, who sentenced McKeever to serve an indefinite term in Mansfield reformatory.

McKeever's attorney, Roy Roof, had asked for a new trial listing 15 causes where he claimed the court was in error in conducting the trial. He maintained the verdict of first degree manslaughter was not sustained by the evidence and was contrary to law.

Second degree murder charges were filed against the youth by the Hardin county sheriff following the fatal shooting of his father, Harry McKeever Sr. July 5 after a family quarrel.

Harvests Bearing Out Early Crop Forecasts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Fall harvests are bearing out the agriculture department's early season forecasts that crop production this year will be the largest in history.

In a harvest-season report yesterday, the department said total production of all crops will be 2.5 per cent above the previous record of 1942 and 26 per cent above the 1923-32 level.

From the long range standpoint of meat-hungry consumers, the best news in the report is the fact that production of livestock feed grains—topped by a record corn crop—will be four per cent larger than the 1942 peak.

Scouts To Make Pilgrimage To Harding Memorial Sunday

More than 1,000 Boy and Girl Scouts from this area will participate Sunday in the fifteenth annual pilgrimage to the Harding Memorial.

The boys and girls will gather at Central Junior High school at 2 p. m. and parade to the memorial by way of West Center and South Main streets and Delaware avenue.

Col. B. M. Crenshaw, deputy post commander from Fort Hayes in Columbus, will lay a wreath from the President of the United States on the tomb.

A wreath will be placed on the grave of Mrs. Harding by Beverly Brobeck of Troop No. 6, and Janet Keener of Troop No. 2, and Senior Girl Scout Arlene Houpt of Troop No. 18. Mrs. Virginia Feaver, executive secretary of the Girl Scouts also will take part in the ceremony.

To Place Wreath

Four boys, each from a different county in Harding Area Council, will lay the Boy Scouts' wreath.

The Harding High school band, directed by Homer Huffman, will play during the ceremony. Rev. Kenneth Stover, pastor of U. B. church and Scoutmaster of Troop 2, of Troo will give the invocation and benediction.

The pledge to the flag will be led by Eagle Scout Frederick Michael of Troop 41, sponsored by St. Paul's Lutheran church of Bucyrus. Scout oath reconsecration will be led by Dick Bracy of Troop 3 of Epworth Methodist church in Marion.

Taps will be sounded by Star Scout Walter Bechtle of Troop 1, sponsored by Marion Elks lodge.

In charge of the program is Bernard Amrine, grand marshal, who is Scoutmaster of Troop 7. Assisting him will be Rowland R. Peters, master of ceremonies, who is Harding Area Council president; R. M. Miller, chief of staff, a council commissioner; and James Wanner, aid to the grand marshal, who is an Eagle Scout of Troop 5 in Marion.

On the Boy Scouts' pilgrimage committee are Earl Andrews, chairman; John Dowler, Robert

PEACE PARLEY TOLD U. S. WILL BACK GREECE

America Ready To Join Any UN Action Against Aggressor Nation.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 11—The United States told the peace conference today it was ready to join in any United Nations defense of Greece "if Greece's security is endangered by the acts of an aggressor nation."

The U. S. ambassador to France, Jefferson Caffery, speaking on the peace treaty with Bulgaria, said the United States has consented to leave Bulgaria her present frontier with Greece only because Americans relied upon United Nations safeguards to protect Greece from any attack.

"The United States delegation can give full assurance that the United States can be counted upon to act" in accordance with such measures, Caffery told the delegates.

Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris said bitterly in an earlier address that the terms of the treaty draft with Bulgaria would permit that nation to emerge from her second war against the Allied nations larger and stronger than ever before.

He accused the western powers—"whose fate we did not hesitate to share in the most critical hours of the war"—of yielding to Soviet pressure on border issues and charged them with lack of gratitude for the role his country played in the war.

Under the terms of the treaty, Tsaldaris declared, the Axis alliance entered into by the late King Boris and former Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Philov in 1941 "will have been justified."

The Greek premier took the floor to counter—by requesting a strip of Bulgarian territory — a demand from Polish Delegate Stephan Wierblowski that Bulgaria be given an outlet to the Aegean sea through Greece.

Third Treaty Debated

The renewed demand by the Slavic group that Bulgaria be given Greece's North Aegean panhandle was presented at the outset of plenary session discussion on the Bulgarian treaty, the third to come before the conference as a whole. The Italian treaty was approved yesterday and the Romanian pact early this morning.

"Bulgaria needs an outlet on the Aegean sea," Wierblowski declared in a speech protesting a commission recommendation to defortify Bulgaria's side of the frontier with Greece and another requiring Bulgaria to pay $62,500,000 each in reparations to Greece and Yugoslavia.

Tsaldaris immediately answered the Polish speaker, urging that his country be given a strip of border territory to secure Thrace against possible invation.

Denies Slav Bloc

Wierblowski said Poles "sympathize with Bulgaria because we are a Slav state," but he denied the existence of an "imaginary Slav bloc."

Tsaldaris declared that Greece herself intended to vote against Article 1 of the Bulgarian treaty, which defines Bulgaria's frontiers.

Referring to three invasions of Thrace by Bulgaria in 36 years—the last when the Germans granted Bulgaria the same Greek territory asked by Wierblowski—the Greek premier added:

"On the morrow of their defeat the Bulgarian delegates gave in this very place fresh confirmation of their aggressive tendencies by demanding the annexation of Greek territories."

Tsaldaris accused the Western powers of yielding to Soviet pressure on the border issue and of lacking gratitude for the role Greece played in the war.

By the terms of the treaty, Tsaldaris declared bitterly, Bulgaria emerges from her second war against the Allies stronger and larger than before, with the addition of southern Dobruja, "which was torn from Romania by Hitler in 1940."

Other provisions increase Bulgaria's peacetime army from 33,000 to 55,000; her airforce from zero to 5,200 men and 90 planes and her navy to "six times greater than before the war," he continued, while her war-spared "industrial, mining and agricultural equipment will have remained completely intact."

AWARDED JUDGMENT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11—A federal court jury today awarded a $16,000 judgment to George Roth of Crestline, O., from the Pennsylvania Railroad for loss of an eye Aug. 31, 1945, at the road's Crestline storage yard. Roth, who was employed as a crane foreman at the time, was hit in the head with a flying crowbar.

FBI Arrests 3 Ex-GI's Accused of Publishing A-Bomb Pictures

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Oct. 11—Three men arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents on charges of publishing photographs of the atomic bomb were to be taken before a United States commissioner here today for arraignment.

Arrest of the three, two former servicemen and a reserve army captain scheduled to report for active duty again tomorrow, was announced in Washington by the justice department this morning shortly after formal charges against them were filed with the federal commissioner here.

Fred Hallford, agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here, identified the men as:

George Wallace Comer, 23, Bel Air, Md., former private first class in the Army Air Forces, honorably discharged Dec. 26, 1945.

Miles Frederick Daubenheyer, 26, of Bel Air, Md., former ensign in the U. S. Navy, separated from service July 28, 1946.

Capt. James Barnes Rike, Chattanooga, Tenn., who entered the army on Oct. 19, 1941, commissioned a captain in August, 1944.

Rike, Hallford said, had been once separated from service and was scheduled to return to duty with the army tomorrow at his own request.

The FBI agent said the three men were arrested by federal agents in Baltimore Oct. 9.

The specific charge against the three, he said, is:

They "did unlawfully publish a photograph of a piece of classified military equipment without first obtaining the permission of the commanding officer of the Army Air forces based on Tinian."

Obtained In Pacific

The justice department in Washington said pictures of the bomb were obtained by one of them while he and a group of other servicemen were serving with a bomber squadron in the Pacific during the fall and summer of 1945.

The announcement said Comer, 23, was born at Comers Rock, Va. and resides at Bel Air, Md.

Daubenheyer, the FBI said, is a native of Butlerville, Ind. and presently lives at Bel Air, Md.

The FBI said Rike, 26, was born in Chattanooga, Tenn. and presently resides there.

The men will be arraigned before a United States commissioner in Baltimore this morning, the FBI said, on a charge of "violating a section of the United States code which prohibits the reproduction, publishing, selling or giving away of any photograph, sketch, picture, drawing, map or graphical representation of vital or military or naval installations without authority."

Conviction on the charges, the FBI added, carries a penalty of a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for each offense.

Meet Rike in Baltimore

The announcement said that Comer, who was discharged from the Army Air Forces in December, 1945, met Daubenheyer, who was discharged from the Navy, while both were employed in Bel Air, Md. The two men went to Baltimore, the announcement continued, on Wednesday of this week to purchase a truck and met Rike, a former Army captain, while in a Baltimore hotel.

The announcement said Comer showed six photographs of the atomic bomb to Rike, whereupon Rike suggested that they try to sell them to a newspaper for approximately $7,000.

The announcement said the men then got in touch with the Baltimore News-Post. Two representatives of that newspaper, however, became suspicious, the announcement said, and notified the FBI and military authorities.

Daubenheyer was arrested in the newspaper office by the FBI and military intelligence.

Copies Scattered

The FBI said Comer and other un-named servicemen had given copies of the pictures to several unauthorized persons throughout the United States, and added that photographs were recovered by the FBI from persons in Texas, California and North Carolina.

The FBI said Comer explained possession of the pictures by saying he and four other servicemen in the late summer of 1945 surreptitiously removed the covering from an atomic bomb and photographed the bomb with a camera of one of these servicemen.

Later, the FBI said, Comer gave the pictures to Daubenheyer from whom the FBI obtained them after the attempted sale to the Baltimore News-Post.

Daubenheyer first learned of the pictures' existence, the announcement said, two weeks ago when Comer told him they were made on Tinian Island in the Marianas islands where Comer and the four servicemen were stationed with a bomber squadron.

18 CANADIANS HELD WHO SOUGHT ARMY

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 11—Eighteen Canadian youths who hoped to be in Uncle Sam's army today were in custody instead while selective service and immigration authorities checked up to determine whether they had crossed the border illegally.

H. J. Gustavson, selective service liaison officer for the area, said all of the youths signed affidavits to the effect that they had lived 30 days in Lucas county and had Toledo addresses. He added that draft boards now have orders to clear all Canadians with immigration officers before registering them.

In Detroit, E. E. Adcock, district immigration director, said he was "tightening up" on admission of Canadians to this country because "more than 100" have crossed the border illegally in recent months to join the army.

Adcock said the 18 men detained in Toledo by his officers Tuesday while they waited in a railroad station for a train to Cleveland and induction told him they went to other cities to enlist because "it wasn't easy in Detroit."

OPA Raises Price Of Newsprint $10 a Ton

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—OPA today raised manufacturers' ceiling prices for newsprint $10 a ton but refused a decontrol request by newspaper publishers.

The agency said the decontrol request was still under study, but the price increase was granted "to assure that United States publishers will continue to receive maximum shipments of newsprint."

The increase, effective today, applies to all newsprint sold for use in the United States, both domestic and imported.

MRS. WITTRED DIES OF FUMES

Woman Stricken Wednesday, Dies at Hospital; Husband Still Unconscious

Mrs. Geraldine S. Wittred, 33, died at 2:25 p. m. yesterday in the City hospital where she and her husband, William Ernest Wittred, 42, were taken Wednesday after they were found overcome by gas fumes in their trailer home at the farm of Taber Adams on Harding Highway E. Mrs. Wittred died without regaining consciousness, and Mr. Wittred, who also was unconscious when they were found shortly after noon Wednesday, has not revived. The fumes came from a refrigerator operated by bottled gas, the sheriff's office reported.

The Wittreds had recently sold their home at 290 Clover avenue and Saturday went to Columbus to get their newly purchased trailer. They spent the night in the trailer in front of their former home on Clover avenue and Sunday moved it to the Adams farm. Their two children, Mary Dianne, 13, and Jerry Kay, two, spent one night with their parents in the trailer but had returned to the city to be with their grandmother, Mrs. Orpha B. Wittred of 644 East Church street.

Had Planned To Move

The new trailer, consisting of five rooms, was purchased by the family in anticipation of going either to California or Florida after being advised by a physician that a change of climate would improve the health of their two-year-old daughter, Jerry Kay. They had previously ordered a trailer from a Dayton firm but purchased this one when delivery of the other was delayed.

The couple were found Wednesday when Mr. Adams investigated after Mr. Wittred, who is employed at the Marion Engineer Depot, failed to report for work. Receiving no answer to his knocks on the door he summoned Sheriff LeRoy Retterer who entered the trailer by breaking a window when he was unable to open the door.

Mrs. Wittred was born Nov. 8, 1912, at Richmondale, O., near Chillicothe, to John E. Pleasant, a native of Hamden, O., and Marguerite Siegler Pleasant, whose birthplace was Richmondale. Her marriage to Mr. Wittred took place June 20, 1933. She was a member of Epworth Methodist church and the Good Cheer Class of the King's Daughters. She was at one time employed at the Kroger Co. 3rd and Center store and Montgomery Ward Co. and some time was employed at the Marion Engineer Depot.

Surviving are her husband and two daughters, Mary Dianne and Jerry Kay, both at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Pleasant, Richmondale; a brother, Robert Pleasant, Richmondale; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Hoffman, Chillicothe; her grandmother, Mrs. Orpha B. Wittred, 644 East Church street; a niece, Sharon Hoffman, Chillicothe, and a nephew, Robert Hoffman, Chillicothe.

Friends may call at the Marion Funeral home after 2 p. m. today. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the home with the Rev. Kenneth Stover, pastor of U. B. church, officiating. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

COLUMBUS CAR STRIKE SETTLEMENT HELD DIM

Transport Walkout Enters 11th Day Still Deadlocked.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11—Columbus' streetcar and bus strike entered its eleventh day today with small promise that a deadlock over union demands for a closed shop and wage increases would be broken soon by negotiators who have succeeded in agreeing on two other issues.

Last night representatives of the CIO Transport Workers Union and the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. had agreed tentatively on an undisclosed compromise of union demands for a 48-hour week with time and a half for overtime and pay for time between runs, U. S. Conciliator H. J. Montoney reported.

Subsequent conferences, however, ended with the company refusing to compromise on the union shop issue and holding to an eight-cent-an-hour wage increase offer while the union asked 30 cents an hour more.

CABINET FAILS TO PRODUCE ANY SOLUTION

Report Comes as Taft Demands OPA Decontrol Food Immediately.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 —Secretary of Agriculture Anderson reported today that President Truman "is now considering a decision" on the meat problem after an hour and a half cabinet session failed to produce a solution for easing the shortage.

Anderson told reporters on leaving the cabinet session that Mr. Truman obtained the views and suggestions of his entire official family, but that no decision was made on the spot.

It was the longest full-fledged cabinet session of Mr. Truman's administration.

Anderson and other cabinet members would not say whether a statement could be expected from the White House during the day.

Orders Study Made

Anderson told reporters he is having his department study a petition from the OPA beef advisory committee asking the removal of controls over livestock prices.

"Everybody in the department is considering this report," Anderson said. He expects to receive some kind of a recommendation by tonight.

To a question as to whether it is a "delusion" to believe the meat shortage can be solved by importing beef, Anderson said "that's a hard question to answer because lots of things can start a run."

He added that "lowering the price only a few cents might be sufficient to begin a run to market."

Under those conditions, he said, "you don't know what might happen."

"As to whether meat could be imported from Canada without authorization by congress, the secretary said that congressional permission is not necessary to bring in canned meat.

Decision Up to Truman

He emphasized that the decision on importation, as well as all other aspects of the meat problem, is up to Mr. Truman.

Meanwhile Rep. Celler (D-NY) urged that the President declare an emergency, suspend tariff rates on imported meat, and remove what he called "the ridiculous quarantine" on fresh Argentine meat.

With those duties off, Celler said in a statement, "good cheap beef should reach the consumers' tables at 14 cents a pound" in less than a month. He said the President has power to suspend the rates under the 1930 tariff act.

Meanwhile Senator Taft (R-Ohio), declaring that the public "prefers pork chops to price control, politics and Democratic congressmen," today urged the immediate removal of all OPA controls on meat.

He added that price controls on all other articles should be abol-

U. S. Deals Self in Dardanelles

Tells Russia America Won't Be Squeezed Out of Settlement.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 — The United States, strongly backing Turkey against Russian demands for a dominant position on the Dardanelles, has advised Moscow that this country does not intend to be squeezed out of a voice in control of the strategic waterway.

At the same time, in a note delivered in the Russian capital Wednesday and released for publication Monday, the state department emphasized anew its opposition to a Russian proposal to take over a direct share in the defense of the Black Sea gateway.

The communication, delivered by Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, constituted the American reaction to Russian proposals for direct conversations with Turkey on revision of the control arrangements for the straits, and for Russian participation in defense.

Smith reminded the Russian government that the Big Three had agreed at Potsdam that they would propose to Turkey their views on revision of the Montreux Convention, which now sets up the rules for use of the Dardanelles.

The United States again told Russia, as it had in previous notes that Turkey "should continue to be primarily responsible for the defense of the straits," though in case of direct or threatened attack "by an aggressor" the United Nations security council should go into action.

Copies of the American note were distributed in Washington yesterday to diplomats of Turkey, France, Greece, Romania, Russia, Britain and Yugoslavia.

Lausche Survey Shows Meat Not Stored in Ohio Warehouses

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11—After surveying Ohio's commercial meat storage plants, Gov. Lausche had determined today that the steaks and chops missing from Ohioans' dinner tables aren't accumulating in the refrigerated warehouses.

The governor reported that 83 of 90 warehouses in the state had 4,300,120 pounds of all kinds of meat in storage at the start of the week compared with 6,613,847 pounds three months earlier, and that most of the meat on hand was the property of hotels and restaurants.

Withdrawals of meat during the three-month period exceeded receipts, and all plants said they had no beef, "if reported no sales," the governor said. He added that the state division of foods and dairies had also checked 13 cold storage and locker plants for meat hoarding and found them [illegible]

MEAT IS ISSUE IN CALIFORNIA

Politicians Weigh "Irritation" Vote as Election Factor.

(This is one of a series of stories on conditions in states with major election campaigns.)

By JACK BELL
AP Political Reporter

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11—Republicans are making the most today of what they called Democratic discord on foreign policy, but the ultimate effect of the "irritation" vote is still the chief question in California's close senatorial contest.

Senator William Knowland, Republican incumbent, and Will Rogers, Jr., his Democratic opponent, also are watching to see how voters may register their protest on the shortage of meat.

Knowland contends the people are getting tired of government controls. He is backed in this view by Gov. Earl Warren.

Blames Cattlemen

State Democratic Chairman James Roosevelt charges cattle growers are withholding meat in hope of breaking down OPA. He and Rogers assert the people resent this and will blame and vote against the Republicans.

In a campaign fully understandable only to a Californian accustomed to cross-voting on the other party's ticket, the governor's office will be filled for another two years by Republican Warren and the legislative assembly probably will be Republican in a state where 60 per cent of the voters registered as Democrats.

Warren, who won both party nominations in the primary, is supporting Knowland but is resisting pleas of GOP leaders for an endorsement of the rest of the ticket.

Battle in Ranks

A battle between conservatives and liberals has gone on largely in Democratic ranks, with Rogers pot shooting at Knowland as "a reactionary with an anti-labor record." Knowland replied by describing Rogers as closely linked with the Communists, who undeniably are supporting the Democratic ticket.

The left-and-right argument has been dramatized by Roosevelt's invitation to Henry A. Wallace to speak in the state during the campaign. Some Democrats indicate they would be happier if Wallace stays away.

Republicans hope the former secretary of commerce accepts.

At the end of World War II the U. S. Army's Veterinary Corps was inspecting 30,000,000 pounds of meat and dairy products every day.

FORUM SPEAKER AT PARIS PEACE PARLEY

Henry C. Wolfe Covers Conference for News Syndicate.

Henry C. Wolfe, international correspondent and one of the four speakers on the Marion Chamber of Commerce Sunday afternoon Forum series, has written local friends that he is in Paris reporting the Peace Conference for one of the major news syndicates. He expects to return to the United States late this fall, the date depending on developments in the French capitol.

Mr. Wolfe will be speaker at the final forum on Feb. 2. All four sessions of the Forum will be held at the Edison High school auditorium. They will start at 2:30 p. m. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce offices on North State street.

The Forum series will start Sunday, Nov. 3 with Louis P. Lochner as the speaker. Mr. Lochner has just returned from Germany where he witnessed the German war trials. For more than 25 years he was chief of the Berlin office of the Associated Press, and is familiar with the German situation. The topic of his discussion will be "Germany, Democracy or Soviet State."

The second Forum will be held on Dec. 8 at which time, Dr. James S. Owens, president of the Ohio State Research Foundation, will discuss "Scientific Development." On Jan. 12, America's radio commentator, Fulton Lewis Jr., will be the speaker. His topic is "Democracy with a Gun in Her Ribs."

LEAVES ESTATE TO CITY

By The Associated Press

WELLINGTON, O., Oct. 11—George Mason, 88, who died in Orlando, Fla., last August, left $15,000 to this Lorain county village for municipal services, it was disclosed today from a reading of his will. Mason left Wellington in his youth and had not visited the town for many years. His ashes will be placed in Wellington cemetery Saturday.

DR. JOHN R. RICE

Evangelist To Discuss Revival Service Here

Dr. John R. Rice, evangelist, will speak in Emmanuel Baptist church Monday at 7:30 p. m., and will meet with a group of Marion ministers at 9 p. m. to discuss the possibility of scheduling a citywide evangelistic campaign. All "evangelistically minded" ministers of the city and county are invited to meet with Dr. Rice, it was announced by Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor of Emmanuel church.

His work entirely interdenominational, Dr. Rice has conducted union campaigns in Binghamton, N. Y., Northside, Minneapolis, Wis., Cleveland, Seattle and Spokane, Wash., Huntington, W. Va., Buffalo, N. Y., and elsewhere. His preaching is characterized as outstanding for his use of Scripture quotations, his "forthright denunciation of sin" and his "impassioned earnestness," and is based on his principal contentions that "if Christians be right, revival always comes" and the "absolute need for Christians to be filled with the Holy spirit."

Group Charters Bus for Willard Trip

A group of 35 Women from Marion and Prospect will go by chartered bus Tuesday morning to Willard to attend the fifteenth annual convention of the North Central group, Ohio District of the Women's Missionary federation, at Trinity Lutheran church there. Of that number, 27 will be from Emanuel Lutheran church here, and eight from St. Paul church at Prospect. Mrs. James F. Lauer and Mrs. Paul Dobberstein, both of Prospect, are secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the district organization. Mrs. Ellwood Ullmer of Bucyrus is president, and Mrs. Lester Utz of Upper Sandusky is vice president. Rev. G. C. Heffelfinger is host pastor.

The theme of the program is "God's Plan for Living." The morning session will open at 9:30, and various departmental reports will be given. "God's Plan for New Guinea" will be the main morning address by Rev. O. G. Grotefend who was a chaplain during the war. Afternoon session will convene at 2, and addresses, "God's Plan for Inner Mission" and "God's Plan for Our Ohio District" will be by Frederick McFarland and by Mrs. Henry F. Schuh of Columbus. Mrs. Schuh is Ohio district president.

County Home Council Holds Meeting Here

Miss Roberta Faulkenstein, nutrition specialist at Ohio State university, spoke to Marion County Home Council members and project leaders at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. offices on West Center street.

Miss Faulkenstein discussed sugar savers and desserts and gave demonstrations of each.

Plans for community demonstrations were made, the first to be held Oct. 29 at Kirkpatrick, with Miss Mary Faye McMillan, county home demonstration agent, in charge.

Yesterday's session was attended by 42 home council members and project leaders representing 13 communities in the county.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Age-Old Disease

Asthma has been known for ages, but during most of those years there was virtually nothing which could be done about it. Every doctor observed patients who were made miserable from time to time by attacks of wheezing, coughing and difficult breathing, but none could suggest a reason for the attacks and hence, real treatment was impossible.

And then, with the discovery that allergy, or oversensitiveness to certain substances, might produce disease of various kinds, medical science began to get some insight into asthma.

According to Dr. Jonathan Forman of Columbus, O., asthma is practically always the result of an allergy. The affected person may be allergic to something which he breathes in or to some food which he eats. He may be sensitive to the poisons formed by germs, to chemicals, to serums and to such things as penicillin.

Some persons react to heat, light and cold in an exaggerated manner. These individuals are said to have a physical allergy. Other people are sensitive to certain drugs, among which, one of the most common offenders is aspirin.

So, today, instead of having no answer as to the cause of asthma, we have almost too many. This means that each patient becomes an individual problem and that in every case a painstaking and sometimes, tedious, search for the offending substance must be made by the doctor.

The treatment of asthma is further complicated by the fact that attacks, though basically due to some allergy, are often brought on by some other factor. You can understand clearly just what this means if you think of the allergy as a loaded gun; the other factors act as a trigger mechanism which causes it to go off.

These "trigger" factors include changes in the air pressure, the temperature, emotional upsets and worry, fatigue and infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere in the body. Even constipation may start a seizure.

Poor nutrition, lack of acid in the stomach, a deficiency of vitamins, and irritation from dirt, dust or fumes, all may be things which start off the attack in many instances. However, there is much that the physician can do to relieve the symptoms even if he cannot get rid of the disorder altogether.

In treating asthma, of course, an attempt should be made to keep the patient out of contact with the substance to which he is particularly sensitive. This is not always possible. However, effort should be made to avoid contact with dust, pollen, feathers and hair fragments.

Sometimes, injections of gradually increasing amounts of the substance to which the person is sensitive may be given and may help to make the disease less severe.

In many instances, however, tubes in the lungs, potassium iodide is often helpful.

Of course, asthma must always be managed under the direction of the physician.

TRUMAN DENIES ARMING BRITAIN

Tells Press Conference Atom Bombs Stay Put in This Country.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—This country's atomic bombs are staying right at home, President Truman made clear today.

He officially exploded reports that the United States has armed Britain with a supply of the powerful weapons.

The Chief Executive's denial was made without qualification at his news conference late yesterday.

Asked specifically then whether there are any atomic bombs "over there," Mr. Truman replied in equally positive terms that there are not.

Prompted by Reports

The queries were prompted by published reports built around speculation that since Britain has shared in the development of the atomic weapon, it had been decided to give her a concrete stake in the finished products.

Among diplomats it was hoped the President's assertions would help eliminate suspicion abroad that Britain and the United States are 'playing partners' in a long-range military alliance, and at the time ease tension over the future use of atomic energy as a weapon.

The President also told reporters he had answered British Prime Minister Attlee's reply to his Palestine appeal but said he would not make it public.

Mr. Truman last week had sent an urgent new request to Attlee for the admission of 100,000 European refugees to Palestine and for a speed-up in settling the Arab-Jewish dispute in the Holy Land.

Attlee's response likewise has been kept secret, but it was understood to be sharply critical of this country's pressure for action in an area already made tense by disputes involving Russia and the Western powers.

Mr. Truman also disclosed that he had instructed the Navy to send a small squadron of warships to Chile for that country's coming presidential inauguration.

Makes 2 Statements

On other foreign policy subjects however Mr. Truman would say only that:

1. There has been no decision on the question of approving the Army Air Forces' proposal to send a fleet of B-29 bombers around the world.

2. He has made no choice of an ambassador to Great Britain to fill the important diplomatic post vacated by the selection of W. Averell Harriman as secretary of commerce.

Portugal Joins Growing List of Vexed Nations

By J. M. ROBERTS Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Trouble for the Carmona-Salazar government in Portugal has been growing for several years. The regime has seemed to be almost suspended in mid-air, without the majority support of any of the country's major factions except, possibly, the army. And the most powerful section of the army, the officer group which originally installed Carmona as president in 1926, has been reported disaffected for sometime.

The dictatorship has been caught between Republican forces which refer to it as Fascist, and the Monarchists, which the government has sought for years to hold in reserve for a time when it might be forced to 'fall back upon them.

The so-called "Republican" opposition comes from liberal Democrats, Socialists, Communists, the navy and the army minority, all demanding liberalism. Monarchist propaganda has been directed less against Premier Salazar than for themselves. As a matter of fact, Don Duarte Nuno, one of the Braganza princes and pretender to the throne, has been protected by Salazar. The monarchists have believed that in the event of the aged Carmona's removal by death or other circumstances, Salazar would reinstate the monarchy. Since the present Portuguese government was modeled after the corporate state founded by Mussolini in Italy, the stage would be all set for such a move by which Salazar could hope to rally the anti-Communist forces of the country. The monarchists have been free to spread their propaganda in Portugal whereas the Socialists and other leftist groups have been forced to operate underground.

Salazar has been known as a 'benevolent dictator' despite his repression of leftist activities and American observers have credited him with doing Portugal more good than any leader of modern times.

Called from Professorship

The army called him from a military professorship to join the Carmona regime in 1926 and it was the army which supported his assumption of dictatorial powers in 1933.

But where Mussolini's corporate state was founded upon the military, Portugal's has always been civilian. Salazar's concept of the state as the central national force, rather than the people themselves, does not extend to the personification of the state in the leader which has characterized other dictatorships. His idea is maximum effectiveness with the minimum of political fireworks and no military trappings.

He got into trouble in 1936 and there almost was a revolt then, when his government appeared to be leaning toward the Fascist forces in the Spanish civil war. He was under widespread attack last year when he ordered "free" elections which, however, came off so quickly that the opposition groups were unable to organize their forces and refused to participate.

Now he is caught between forces which have been whirling about Portugal all during the war when the country became a center for plotters representing practically every opposing ideology in Europe.

Large Audience Hears Piano Duo Open Concert Season

By EDNA S. DUTTON

When the Marion Concert association chose the opening program for its season it scarcely could have made a wiser choice than the Whittemore and Lowe piano duo team presented last night in the Palace theater.

The two young men, Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, whose services in the U. S. Navy took them from all the Pacific theater where their music won the plaudits of thousands of service men and women of the armed forces, proved that their mastery of style and interpretation is not limited to that of the contemporary composers. The program ranged from Seventeenth century Handel and Bach to Morton Gould's "Guaracha," the latter interpretation of the South American equivalent of boogie-woogie.

Playing with a precision seldom witnessed as complete and final as that between a single pianist's own two hands, the performance of the two young men was thrilling to see and hear. And a capacity audience which filled the theater to capacity, after thoroughly enjoying every minute of the generous program refused to leave until after they returned to the stage to play three encores.

First Number

To open the program they played Handel's overture to "Alexander's Feast," and followed with the elegant minuet in G major they played Alfredo Casella's "Two Pictures of War" (1915) Russia, depicting the steely, powerful force of the cavalry, and in contrast, Alsace-Lorraine, a pastoral of simple beauty. This was followed by "Four Waltzes," originally written by Brahms for four hands at one piano. Closing the first half of the program was Rachmaninoff's Rhapsody, No. 1 Theme, which will be long remembered for its technical display and pianistic artistry.

"Falling in Love with Love" and "Lover," Rodgers and Hart's Old Black Magic," Arlen and the always welcome "Clair de Lune" by Debussy were followed by the boogie-woogie "Guaracha," the melodic and gay "Triana" from Albeniz and a captivating march from the opera "The Love for Three Oranges" by Prokofieff. Stravinsky's "Pastorale," and "Bolero" by Ravel, the latter called by many Whittemore and Lowe's "Signature" and "a request" more often than any other in their repertoire, closed the announced program.

Five Encores

The applause was rewarded with five encore numbers, "Melodie," from "Orpheus," by Gluck in their own arrangement from the third movement of Rachmaninoff's "Second Concerto," "Liebesfreud" Kreisler, Etude in E flat Major, from "Paganini," by Liszt and "Malaguena," by Lucena.

The visit of the two young men here was the occasion of a reunion for Mrs. Gerald Jennings of Cummins avenue and Mr. Lowe who were graduated in the same class from the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Jennings, whose home was in Buffalo, N. Y. studied piano for 12 years with Dr. A. F. Thomasson as secretary. A [illegible] was received from the New Central District announcing a meeting of officers of all lodges in the district to be held Oct. 27 [illegible] Vernon.

WAGE BOARD HOISTS "IN BUSINESS" SIGN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 — The groggy wage stabilization board hoisted a "still in business" sign today as President Truman pondered whether to try anew to talk the panel's two industry members out of quitting.

By his own promise to be deliberate, however, the President virtually ruled out a quick end to the uncertainty over the future course of government efforts to hold pay boosts in check when those views are in prospect.

Reporting at the new conference yesterday that he once before had rejected the resignations of Earl H. Cannon and A. Colman Barrett, Mr. Truman said he may do that again.

The two industry members submitted their resignations earlier this week, asking that they take effect yesterday because of what they called the untenable position of the board under current policy.

The reference was to the September maritime strike settlement, brought about when Reconversion Director John R. Steelman overrode the wage panel by approving a higher-than-pattern pay boost for CIO seamen.

Cannon and Barrett in submitting their resignations, also called for an end to all wage controls.

Hull Reported Out of Immediate Danger

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull continued to show improvement today and physicians said that he "appears to be out of any immediate danger," Bethesda Naval hospital reported.

Hull, who is 75, suffered a stroke on Sept. 30.

NO SUGAR, NO CHEWING GUM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—If you can't get your favorite brand of chewing gum, blame it on the sugar shortage. "Until the sugar situation improves the chewing gum industry faces continued restrictions of output," the commerce department reported today.

PITTSBURGH LOSES CONVENTION TRADE

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11 — Plagued by a power strike and a coal strike, neither of which shows any sign of ending soon, Pittsburgh today saw more of its convention trade slipping away from it.

Already church and lay groups which would have brought thousands of visitors to the city have called off meetings here or held them elsewhere.

Three more cancellations bobbed up. The American Society of Training Directors, set for Oct. 17-19, and the Pennsylvania Industrial Bankers association, Oct. 11 and 12, both moved to nearby New Castle, Pa., while the Pennsylvania Library association convention, set for Oct. 17-19, was cancelled outright.

Meanwhile, federal and state conciliators who have been holding a number of meetings daily with Duquesne Light company and union negotiators ever since late in September announced:

"No progress—except that we're still holding meetings."

Separate sessions were scheduled today for representatives of the company and the striking Independent Association of employees of Duquesne Light and Associated companies.

The 3,200-member union has been out 18 days in a demand for a 20 per cent pay raise. Also it would boost average hourly base pay from $1.18 to $1.14, best company offer to date has been five per cent.

RECOVERY RESUMED IN TODAY'S MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—The recovery drive was resumed in today's stock market although momentum was lacking.

Belief that the technical upswing could go considerable farther, commission men said, inspired a certain amount of bidding and short covering. Expectations of decontrols for meat and other consumers goods also were credited with reviving bullish ideas.

Better performers included U. S. Steel, which opened a trifle late on a 3,000-share block, up 2; Bethlehem, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Goodrich, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, J. I. Case, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Allied Chemical, Cudahy, DuPont, North American, American Smelting and Electric Power and Light.

Occasional stumblers were Union Pacific, Great Northern, Goodyear, Union Carbide, American Can and American Water Works.

FBI MEETINGS SET

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11 — The schedule of the second series of FBI law enforcement conferences to be held in northern Ohio was announced today by Ewell C. Richardson, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office. Meetings will be held at Canton, Oct. 14; Mansfield, Oct. 15, Tiffin, Oct. 16, Lima Oct. 17; Perrysburg, Oct. 18; Cleveland, Oct. 21, and Youngstown, Oct. 22.

Marion Club To Have Part in National Business Women's Week Observance

Nineteenth annual National Business Women's week will be marked, beginning Sunday, and in Marion will be the first such observance sponsored by the newly chartered Business and Professional Women's club of the city. Theme of the observance will be "Let's Work Together for Better Communities." A proclamation has been issued by Governor Lausche for marking the week in Ohio, and Mayor Dowler has indorsed the proclamation of the governor in regard to its application to Marion, with a statement of his support of the local club as a worthwhile organization striving toward worthwhile goals.

A radio broadcast will be heard over WMRN the first part of the week, presented by members of the Marion B. and P. W. club.

Extensive Organization

One of approximately 1,775 clubs having a membership of 102,000 women, the local group is part of an organization the purpose of which is to promote the interests of women in many phases of industry as well as to assist in community betterment. Not only do these clubs work for the improvement of working conditions and wages of women, their endeavors include promotion of educational opportunities, counseling service, better health practices and benefits, carrying out of projects on civic interests, and influence of legislation.

Founded in 1919, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women now has state federations in 48 states and Alaska, and the District of Columbia and Hawaii, have clubs. It is the largest federation of business and professional women in the world and publishes the only magazine in the United States devoted solely to the interests of women in business and the professions, The Independent Woman.

Many Fields Represented

More than 400 occupations are followed by the members. It trains women for citizenship on local, state, national and international levels. It represents the first effort to organize and utilize the women workers of the country, and numbers among its members congresswomen, judges, state and city officials as well as leaders of the medical profession, the bar, business executives, school teachers, nurses and thousands of small business owners.

Organized about a year and a half ago, the local club was first the Business Women's club and recently received membership in the state and national B. and P. W. organizations. Projects which the group have carried out include planting of shrubbery at the East Center street entrance of the courthouse, and to a needy Marion family at Christmas, donation toward a moving picture projector for the Y.M.C.A. Members plan on a chili supper in the spring and entertained in an exchange visit the Toledo B. and P. W. club. Other civic projects are being considered. The club holds luncheon meetings each Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A. with informative and educational programs for the benefit of the members.

Charter Event Scheduled

The Marion club's official charter presentation will be an event of Saturday, Oct. 26 at Hotel Harding, and delegations from various other B. and P. W. clubs of the state will be present. Plans are being made to entertain the district meeting in January, for an employer-employe banquet at a later date, and to entertain girls of the high school's cooperative education program in the spring.

8 Reported Killed In Army Airplane Crash

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 11—A United States military transport plane carrying American nurses crashed today in the Tijuca area of this capital. First reports said eight were killed.

The plane was reported to have been bound for Bello Horisonte in the state of Minas Geraes, 200 miles northwest of Rio.

Y's Men's Club To Aid in Safety Drive

Members of the Y's Men's club will assist the Marion County Safety Council tomorrow in the fifth contact period of its current pedestrian safety drive. Heading the Y's Men's group will be Louis B. Conkle.

A safety patrol from the Silver Street school, headed by Clark Fouts, principal, will also aid in passing out warning cards to jaywalkers and unsafe drivers.

The project, as in past weeks, will be held in the downtown district during Saturday afternoon. Participants will meet at the Chamber of Commerce office at noon for instructions. A sound truck and police squad car will also assist in the drive.

Next week the Altrusa club and a group of Girl Scouts will participate in the campaign. The Exchange club will assist during the following and final week.

Ohio Penitentiary Fire Causes $500 Damage

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11—Ohio penitentiary's laundry was damaged last night by a fire which caused some alarm among prisoners before the city fire department quickly extinguished the blaze.

Smoke from the one story building near the east wall filled the prison yard and filtered into nearby cell blocks.

Daniel J. Bonzo, executive officer and acting warden during the vacation in Michigan of Warden Frank D. Henderson, said the cause of the fire was unknown. The laundry had been used until late in the afternoon, and a trusty discovered the blaze in the laundry office shortly after 6 p. m. The office was gutted, some clothing was destroyed, and machinery was damaged. Bonzo made a preliminary damage estimate of about $500.

On Easter Monday of 1930 Ohio penitentiary was the scene of a holocaust in which 322 prisoners died.

Portugal Calm After Non-Violent Revolt

By The Associated Press

LISBON, PORTUGAL, Oct. 11—Portugal was reported calm today after a short-lived bloodless soldier revolt in the north that led the Salazar government to alert troops and cut telephone communications out of Lisbon.

(Travelers arriving by plane in Madrid from Lisbon said more than 900 persons had been arrested in the Portuguese capital yesterday. They added that all now was quiet in the capital.)

A communique last night said a regular army officer, a group of noncommissioned officers and 70 soldiers participating in the uprising had surrendered without a fight. It added: "There is complete calm throughout Portugal."

TOBACCO CROP ESTIMATED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Ohio's share of the all-time high record tobacco crop predicted by the agriculture department for 1946 on the basis of conditions Oct. 1 is 15,960,000 pounds. The forecast for Kentucky was 410,075,000 pounds and for West Virginia 3,740,000 pounds.

TRUMAN, SNYDER VARY ON BUDGET

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Oct. 11 — Can a budget be in balance by the end of a fiscal year if there is a deficit of $1,900,000,000 for that year as a whole?

That is the question posed today by latest statements of President Truman, who talked of being in balance, and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who spoke of the $1,900,000,000 deficit.

President Truman told newsmen yesterday—remarking that he also had said it a week earlier—that he was trying to balance the budget and that the budget will be in balance by the end of the year.

The day before, and with the self-asserted aim of "keeping the press on the right track," Snyder told newsmen:

"There have been no changes whatsoever" in the President's estimate of last Aug. 2 in which nine figures appear to be that there will be a deficit of $1,900,000,000."

Snyder also said that "the President is making every effort to curtail federal expenditures so as to bear out his estimates as they were released in August."

The President twice said yesterday that Snyder had been misquoted, but he did not specify in what respect or by whom.

Champion Jersey Seen Hailing from Texas

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O. Oct. 11 — The grand champion cow of the all-American Jersey cattle show will be chosen tonight at the Ohio State fairground—and the odds were favorable that the dairy cattle queen might hail from the beef longhorn plains of Texas.

The Texas State Jersey club's herd last night won the $1,000 state herd championship, while Herman F. Heep of Buda, Tex. had four first-place entries and D. T. Simons of Fourt Worth, Tex., copped another class top.

Judging of 348 head of cattle from 26 states and Canada continues today, and two cattle sales are scheduled for tomorrow.

TWO TRAFFIC CASES

Two motorists, stopped Thursday on charges of speeding were brought into municipal court today and both pleaded guilty. Emery N. Bradley, 42, of 319 Columbia street was fined $15 and costs. He was cited on Congress street at 10:20 p. m. Alex Autry, 26, of Durham, N. C., was fined $10 and costs. He was stopped on Delaware avenue at 5:45 p. m.

15,000 NEW DRAFT CALL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—The nation's draft boards will have to find only 15,000 men for the army in November. Voluntary enlistment of nearly a million in the last year permitted the cut from the October quota of 35,000 explained Maj. Gen. William S. Paul, war department personnel director.

Those Who Drink Must Also Eat—in Sweden

BY EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM—Sweden's cafe society is just that in every sense of the word.

This is largely because to drink you've got to eat, and where else can a restaurant in Sweden can eat, there being no such thing as a bar with free lunch, peanuts and a glass bowl, or a soda fountain sandwich.

Visitors, Americans and Britons in particular, find the country's drinking laws extremely quaint, and strange.

For instance:

You decide to go to someplace to dine and dance. There's only a restaurant to go to, although many of these restaurants actually are night clubs as Americans know them.

Vodka, Gin Cross

You start off with your dinner and the waiter almost automatically brings you snapps—a national firewater which is sort of an alcoholic blending of the west and east — a drink that tastes like a cross between vodka and gin.

About the time you're through your first snapps a youngish man comes around and sells you a permit to dance. It costs about a quarter.

You finish your snapps and order another. But all the time you're eating, or you'd better be. It is when you order a third snapps that Sweden's drinking law sits down at your table and stares you in the face. You've eaten up your ration.

How then do you get another drink? You decide you're still hungry and tell the waiter so. If he understands you he brings on another glass of snapps—plus a plate of green peas.

One Drink, One Plate

If you want still another snapps (and you'd be surprised at the number of people who do) you've got to order another plate of peas whether you've eaten the first one or not.

Brandy, the waiter informs you, is now in order, but to get a shot of this you've got to order coffee. But after that brandy, you've generally had the works. You can't get any more.

At this point your Swedish friends then show you other phases of their ingenuity. You get up, pay your bill, walk out in one of the pleasant parks nearby, re-enter the restaurant, sit down at another table and for all practical purposes, you can start all over again with the entire operation, beginning with an "initial" snapps.

This is the law but in Sweden, as elsewhere, there are restaurants and restaurants and places and places and customs and customs.

For instance a group of us went to a restaurant and ordered whisky (without food) — and got it.

"How come?" I asked.

"Oh," said a Swedish gentleman, "they hear us speaking English and, to be frank, we don't look like liquor spies."

"Liquor spies!"

"Yes," he explained, "Stockholm's full of them. Why, I've even had them tap my telephone."

"How does a liquor spy look?" I asked.

"Like a dirty rat," hissed my friend with real feeling.

There's another habit connected with cafe drinking (and eating) which should be mentioned.

Leave Cars Behind

After leaving a restaurant your Swedish friend—if he has brought you in his automobile—almost always will call a taxi and leave his car parked outside.

"Why?" I asked, "You've had only one glass of snapps all evening."

"But that's enough," he explained, " to get me 30 days in jail. I don't have to be drunk. I don't have to have an accident. All a policeman has to do is to come up to me, haul me into a station, run a liquor test, and if he can prove that I've had even a drop, off I go for 30 days—or more."

I told him that was very difficult.

"Yes," he said, "It is, but we also have very, very few persons injured or killed as the result of drinking drivers."

Harpster Methodists Will Conduct School

The Harpster charge School of Methodism, with speakers from various Methodist insitutions and churches of the Ohio conference, has been announced for next week by Rev. C. B. Doty, pastor. Beginning Sunday night, the series of meetings will be held in the Little Sandusky church, and sessions will be at 8 each night through Friday.

Dr. A. J. Schatzman, superintendent of Flower hospital in Toledo, will be the opening speaker and his subject will be "Methodists View Methodism." Scheduled for the rest of the week are Dr. O. E. Ford, pastor of the Methodist church at Carey, "The Faith of Methodists"; Dr. H. J. Burgstahler, president of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, "The Outgrowths of Methodism"; Rev. C. F. Fogle, pastor of John Stewart Methodist church, Upper Sandusky, "Crusading Methodism"; Rev. H. M. McAdow, pastor of Wesley church, Marion, "Characterizations of Great Methodist Leaders, Past and Present"; Rev. George W. Herd, pastor of First Methodist church, Lancaster, "Methodism's Crowning Glory." The services are open to the public, the pastor stated.

Wilmington Union Sues Company for $100,000

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 11 — Local 586 United Auto Workers-CIO and eight members of the union yesterday asked $100,000 court judgement against the strikebound Irwin Auger Bit Co., on grounds Wilmington's largest industry sought to deprive the union of its rights as bargaining agent.

The petition for damages, filed in common pleas court yesterday declared as result of actions of the company "the defendants have suffered in loss of wages and have been harassed, threatened, damaged and deprived of their bargaining rights, all to their damage in the sum of $100,000."

An estimated 250 union employes have been idle since Sept. 4 when they left their jobs in a wage and contract dispute. Company spokesmen said 100 workers remained on the job.

OPA Orders Increase in Price of Veal Cuts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—OPA yesterday ordered retail prices on veal cuts raised seven and eight cents a pound, effective Monday, and at the same time revised retail ceilings on many beef and pork items one or two cents a pound.

An official of the price agency said the new meat prices had no connection with the current meat shortage and do not affect livestock ceilings.

Instead, he said the revision is required because the meat ceilings re-established on Sept. 10 were inacurate in some regions and stores.

The increase in veal ceilings are limited to the two top grades.

'Lucky' Oils Grease Palm Reader's Path to $50 Court Fine

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 11 — An estimated 4,000 bottles of "Lucky" oils greased the skids in recorder's court yesterday for Mohamed Holygarden Abdull, proprietor of a grocery and confectionery.

Patrolman Bernard Behrendt testified that he entered the establishment for a palm reading. It cost him $2.50 and Abdull saw an impending marriage in the lines of his hand, he said. Behrendt already has one wife.

Disgruntled, the patrolman took a look around and then called fellow officers for assistance in carting Abdull and 15 bushel baskets of his stock before Judge John J. Maher.

The evidence included "Lover's Oil," obviously for lovers, "Money Making Oil," for those short of ready cash, and 'Dream and Magnetic Oil," presumably for the non-magnetic.

The day's super deluxe was a "King Solomon Oil" purpose not listed — and the special for the week was "conquering Hero Oil."

With his eye on a vial of "Commanding Oil," Judge Maher directed a fine of $50 on a fortune telling charge.

Abdull looked longingly at a flask of "double Strength Jinx Removing Oil"—then paid.

HOME ECONOMIST KIWANIS SPEAKER

Miss Ruth Kleinmaier Talks to Luncheon Club.

A film entitled "Frozen Freshness" was shown at the weekly Kiwanis club luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding. It was brought here through the courtesy of the Ohio Public Service Co. The explanation was given by Miss Ruth Kleinmaier.

The picture showed how foods should be prepared for storage in lockers, and told what foods can be prepared for deep freeze compartments as well as lockers. It also explained how cakes, pies, and biscuits can be prepared for freezing.

Guests of the club from the Ohio Public Service Co. with Miss Kleinmaier were James G. Lytle and R. I. Butterworth. William J. Green of Marion was also a guest.

Even before World War II, two-thirds of the world population was chronically undernourished.

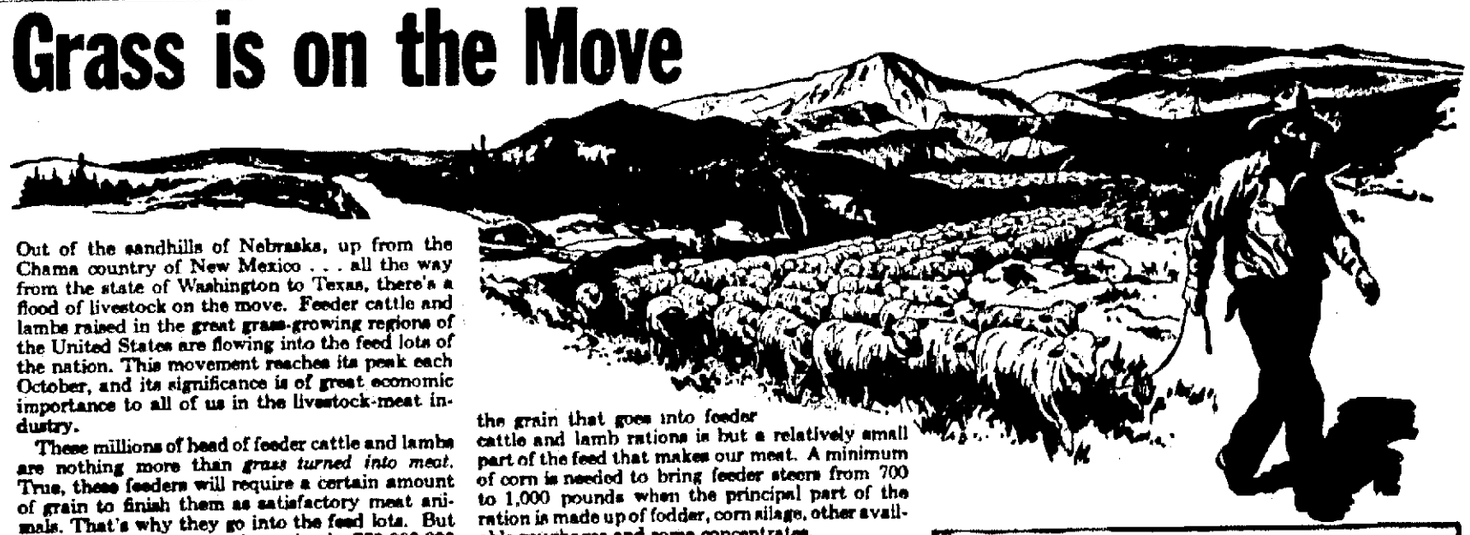
Grass is on the Move



Out of the sandhills of Nebraska, up from the Chama country of New Mexico . . . all the way from the state of Washington to Texas, there's a flood of livestock on the move. Feeder cattle and lambs raised in the great grass-growing regions of the United States are flowing into the feed lots of the nation. This movement reaches its peak each October, and its significance is of great economic importance to all of us in the livestock-meat industry.

These millions of head of feeder cattle and lambs are nothing more than grass turned into meat. True, these feeders will require a certain amount of grain to finish them as satisfactory meat animals. That's why they go into the feed lots. But were it not for these grazing animals, 779,000,000 acres of the land area of the United States would produce little, if any, human food. In other words, 41% of the total land of our nation consists of grass land which cannot be used for producing other feeds and foods. Also taking into consideration the plowable land used to produce pasture, hay and other forage crops, approximately half of our land would produce no food of human value, were it not for livestock.

Of the total feeds consumed by beef cattle, 78.7% is grass, hay and dry roughages. With lambs, it is 95.6%. These are official figures of the United States Department of Agriculture. Thus, the grain that goes into feeder cattle and lamb rations is but a relatively small part of the feed that makes our meat. A minimum of corn is needed to bring feeder steers from 700 to 1,000 pounds when the principal part of the ration is made up of fodder, corn silage, other available roughages and some concentrates.

In addition to utilizing grass which otherwise would be wasted, the production of livestock furnishes the nation with its finest nutritional food—meat. In the great movement of meat from the Western range to the kitchen range, the stop-over in the feed lots increases the amount of meat. It also levels out the fall flood of livestock into a more even year-round marketing. Thus seasonal price fluctuations are not so marked. In the production of livestock, the majority of America's 6,000,000 farmers and ranchers find the chief means of marketing their grass and other home-grown feeds.

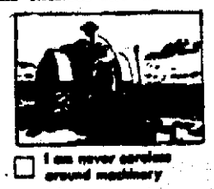
MANY ACCIDENTS CAN BE PREVENTED

Every three minutes there is a farm or ranch accident. Unless something is done, 19,500 people may be killed in such accidents this year. Another 1,800,000 may be injured. We at Swift & Company want to help cut down this accident toll. That's why we print the pictures and the questions which follow. Little chances not taken, little repairs made, can prevent big accidents. Do you take the chances shown below? Check yourself.

Do you have a strongly built bull pen? Do you lead the bull around on a rope because you do not have a bull-staff? Do you approach horses from behind without speaking and petting their rumps to warn them? Then watch yourself . . . one out of four fatal farm accidents occurs in handling livestock.

☐ I never handle animals carelessly

☐ I approach animals without warning



Do you leave safety shields off power shafts, gears and chains? Wear loose-fitting clothing that may catch in machinery? Operate the tractor on dangerous inclines or banks? Mishandled machinery and equipment are involved in nearly one out of three fatal farm accidents.

☐ I am never careless around machinery

☐ I sometimes take chances with machinery

W. H. Peters

SELECTING JUNIOR CLUB STEERS

by W. H. Peters
University of Minnesota

Every boy and girl who enters a junior feeding contest would like to secure a feeder steer good enough to become a champion. In selecting calves with this high aim in mind, the "satisfactory prospect" must be a purebred or high-grade of one of the recognized beef breeds, Shorthorn, Hereford, or Angus.

The calf or yearling steer in this condition must appear short in legs in proportion to his depth of body, or to put it the other way around, he must appear deep in body in proportion to his length of legs. He must then appear to be wide in his body and thickly covered with muscle, especially over the loin and down through the thighs.

The feeder calf should have a short neck and a short, broad head. He should appear sophisticated as to quality in the loin and head as compared to the rest of his body. He will show mellowness and show quality in his hair coat. Large, coarse-boned, rough, unrefined steers are seldom desirable feeder calves.

Colors that appear uniform and attractive are desirable. A Shorthorn should be purchased as near white as possible to insure that he will be liked by the buyers.

TEAMWORK

While we were preparing the "Grass is on the Move" article for this page, a cattleman friend from one of the western range states called to see me. I told him about the article. "It points out," I said, "that lots of food for humans is produced from areas that otherwise would be waste land if it were not for meat animals."

He said, "That's good! There are always misguided people who complain that it's a waste to feed corn and other grains to livestock. They say people ought to eat the grain, instead of turning it into meat. They forget that most of that meat is made of grass, hay and other roughage that people can't eat.

"Another thing too many people forget," he went on, "is the important job you meat packers do in getting meat to the people who want it. I understand that meat travels an average of more than 1,000 miles from producers to consumers. That must be so because we fellows west of the Mississippi raise two-thirds of the livestock. But two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi, where most of the people live. In a way, we who raise and finish the animals are like manufacturers. And you are our sales and distributing departments. Believe me, we need an organization that covers the nation to get our product into every market in this big country. It seems to me that you and we are in this business together, and neither could get along without the other."

It seems to me that he's right! F. M. Simpson
Agricultural Research Department

Control swine parasites and make more profit. Hogs and pigs may be infected with internal parasites. Swine sanitation is the key to control. The following practices have been found effective: clean, disinfected pens and runs with bedding for winter; clean, dry runs and lots with empty wallow before disinfecting. If the pigs have been dipped in permanent brewers, hand dipped or shower dipped, the pigs on pasture could not fall wallow into the pasture. Keep the pigs on pasture until fall weather sets in.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1946

No Conspiracy Needed

THE department of justice, helped by its keen-witted FBI, has discovered there is no evidence of collusion or conspiracy in the meat shortage.

Here is a political discovery that starts up favorably with the discovery that the Solid South is solid and voters would rather have gravy than taxes.

If Washington takes this discovery to heart, it will be a key to unlock some of the deepest mysteries of public affairs.

We think what the department of justice has discovered is that no conspiracy is needed to gum up America. A bewildered government can do the whole thing single-handed.

It can do it by twisting the knobs and dials of a piece of economic machinery so intricate that even the most cautious experts can get it jammed—and no one has accused the Washington busybodies of expertness.

Government can throw things into a tailspin by remote control, merely by banging out a few edicts on a duplicating machine—and not even realize what it did until the repercussions make some whoozy official inquire, "Gracious sakes! What did I do wrong this time?"

Trying to make the national economy do what it is supposed to be doing with government erecting road blocks and waving traffic this way and that way over detours that fizzle out in barnyards is hopeless. It works in wartime after a fashion—for a limited time only—because in wartime government alone is supposed to know what the people should be doing.

In peacetime it is a farce because government not only does not know what the people should be doing, but wouldn't know how to make them do it, assuming that in the United States it had the right to tell them—which it doesn't have, so far.

The meat mess is a dark cloud. But it has a silver lining. It is an object lesson to show what can happen when a few individuals who don't know a sirloin tip from third base try to backseat-drive a segment of the national economy.

Paradoxically, the government is innocent of its guilt, however, because it merely was carrying out what it hoped was a mandate from the people who elected it.

The meat mess is only Chapter Umpsteen in a long story that began many years ago when the people grew curious about the possibilities of a government-managed economy.

Their curosity is being satisfied. In meat and many other things it has been demonstrated beyond doubt that it doesn't take a conspiracy of private citizens to make things go haywire in America. The private citizens have done it, to be sure, but when they did it they had to work at it. Government can create more confusion with a fraction of the effort.

When Party Members Fight

THE fury of the tempests being stirred by quarrels inside the Democratic party can be explained by a familiar rule in politics.

Members of the same party invariably fight each other with more savagery than they put into their fights against the opposition. The bloodiest battles in American politics have been internecine showdowns inside political camps.

Party struggles for control of the national government have been pallid demonstrations compared with struggles for control of parties. Nothing the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and his faction said about Republicans was half so earnest as the hateful things Democrats said about one another during 13 years of intraparty maneuvering for the upper hand. Nothing that Republicans did to oust the New Deal was so purposeful and direct as the things some of them did to eliminate Wendell Willkie as a party influence after 1940. The struggle of the Democrats over Bryan and Cleveland, the Republican party's tension over Herbert Hoover, and the lethal grappling which determined the supremacy of party influences in the 19th century have been the most violent passages of American political history. When politicians quarrel between themselves they go to work with an intensity that makes their contests between parties look like chess games.

There is a further rule that the quarreling increases in ratio to the party's declining prospects. There was harmony among Democrats when the party was on the upswing. There was harmony among Republicans when Calvin Coolidge was in the White House. It stopped as 1932 and the debacle approached. In 1946, another debacle is approaching, this time for Democrats. They are admitting it by their own behavior. The bad blood between them is beginning to come out because they've nothing to gain by hiding it any longer.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Republicans May Win More Than They Claim.

WASHINGTON Oct. 11 — Republican Campaign Manipulator Halleck made some election claims to reporters so modest they did not get into most newspapers. When a Republican claims an expected Republican victory, it is not news. But privately Mr. Halleck had more sensational news, expecting a month he would get a tremendous sweep. Now 5 of far greater scope than expected, winning a strong majority in the house and a slight control in the senate. His view was that the Democratic party is split, and the fissure will be widened in the voting, the party not even getting its usual union labor support which was its backbone in the last seven congressional elections.

The campaign has been so quiet you could hear a Pepper drop or a Wallace fall. But padded rolling pins have been flying in the Democratic tables at least, before the coming atop the Wallace affair has spread a panic among Democratic candidates in eastern cities. They have been screaming to Mr. Truman privately and publicly for relief of some sort, which will return beef to all Democratic tables at least, before the voting starts. Indeed, the Republicans believe a report they have heard from the Democratic camp, that Mike Monroney, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, chosen for that job because his district was safe, and therefore he could campaign for others in need, had to rush back to his home district in Oklahoma City on a well concealed trip to mend his own fences.

Barkley Hits Trail

This much I know — Democratic Senate Leader Barkley has embarked on 35 campaign speeches in Kentucky. When a man of Barkley's official connection with the White House, age and health, goes into such incessant and strenuous activity merely to save a Democratic senate seat and perhaps a Louisville congressman or two, you may be sure the inner Demo reports are very bad.

The spots where the Republicans expect to gain most are the large industrial states like Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio—places in which the unions have been strongest. They cannot expect to reap much in Illinois or Indiana where they are already strong. In Illinois they might pick up a district or two in Ed Kelley's Chicago, and in Indiana their hopes are centered in the Gary district, where the foreign language groups have split over the peace troubles. But their hopes even extend to wild and wooly Washington, in which the unions have been dominant, and to California.

Out of Pennsylvania they expect to promote a new presidential candidacy in the size of the majority by which their Gov. Martin beats Joe Guffey. Certainly Mr. Guffey has been getting prominent Democrats from outside the state to undertake the argument for him, and lend respectability to his claims. He is thoroughly CIO, but what John Lewis' miners may do to him in the coal districts will be shown only by the counted votes.

Polls Inconclusive

The polls have been slow and inconclusive. Actually some of the Republican leaders are waiting to hear what Mr. Gallup says. As he never says much until the last week before election, these Republican bigwigs, if not the nation, will remain on tiptoe for a couple of weeks yet. Certainly, however, the Democrats have not been able to match the Republican slogan: "Had enough?"

The fundamental political situation from the Republican or any other standpoint in my opinion is simply this.

The Roosevelt regime managed to perpetuate itself by an unreasonable and purely political alliance of southern Democrats, city unions and city political machines in the north and east, and even the Communists. This alliance was maintained by the genius of Mr. Roosevelt. Signs that it is cracking are unmistakable. The pressure of international and domestic events have forced open breaks wider and wider in the coalition, and it cannot be maintained much longer.

Yet the machines of the cities and unions are the best organized political pressure groups in the country. A union may fine a member for not voting. It provides automobiles, pressure and instruction to get its vote recorded 100 per cent. The city machines do fairly well in this respect also. The public at large is not organized. If the vote of the middle class, the white collar worker and the average citizen is more than 60 per cent recorded, in an off-year election, the movement to get out the vote will be considered a success. Only the ballots actually cast will count.

In view of the dismal condition of the Democrats, my election prediction is this:

The Republicans will gain firm control of the house by 16 or 17 votes or more and will come close to controlling the senate, perhaps within one or two votes. If the split among the unions eventuates at the polls, the scope of the victory will be enlarged to the same extent as the split widens. In that case, the Republicans may win more than they claim.

Just a Minute

By JACK TARVER

Does DC Create or Just Attract Them?

There are more crazy people in Washington than any other city in the country.

That is from figures compiled by the census bureau and not, as one might suppose, an impression gained from reading The Congressional Record.

Small wonder, say Republicans, the nation increasingly resembles the proverbial booby-hatch where the inmates are in charge.

Of each 100,000 population in the District of Columbia, 816.30 are confined to mental institutions. To say nothing of the ones with congressional immunity.

It should be pointed out, in fairness to Washington, that a great many thus listed are merely visitors who stayed too long.

But the figures, for whatever they're worth, are being cited frequently in current congressional campaigns. "Throw out the Democratic lunatics," demand Republican orators, "And give ours a chance."

Republican Hopefuls

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 — Although public attention is concentrated on the current congressional campaign, the jockeying between the camps of the leading Republican aspirants is hotting up behind the scenes. If, as is expected, even among the despondent Democrats, Thomas E. Dewey rolls up a really impressive majority in New York this fall, he will be well out in front in the race. This despite the fact that he has been beaten once, and many Republican leaders regard him with ill-concealed loathing.

Meanwhile the situation in Ohio, bailiwick of Dewey's closest rival, Senator Robert Taft, is an odd one. Ohio has always spawned presidential possibilities with an impressive fertility, and it now boasts at least two, and possibly three aspirants. The relationship between Taft and Ex-Governor John Bricker has always been cordial, though never close. Taft is now going all out in support of Bricker's senatorial candidacy. Yet some time during the coming year a trying point will have to be settled. Who is Ohio's favorite son?

Hurt Feelings

During the last two campaigns, this ticklish question was amicably settled between Taft and Bricker. By an understanding between them, Bricker backed Taft to the bitter end in the Republican convention in 1940, and in 1944 Taft returned the somewhat empty compliment. But both Taft and Bricker want the nomination so badly they can almost taste it. The issue is still quiescent, and Republican politicos consider it bad taste to mention it. Yet in the next few months it will have somehow to be resolved.

The Taft organization is much stronger on a nationwide scale, particularly in the south, where reportedly only the Georgia Republicans (surely a political oddity) have been wavering in the direction of Stassen. There are those who suspect that Taft is looking with equanimity on the forthcoming entry of Bricker in the senate, since it seems likely that Bricker, who is no oratorical genius, will put his foot in his mouth every time he opens it in that august body. On the other hand there are reports that the richer (and stupider) of the Republican party's fatcats are convinced that handsome John Bricker would make a truly great president. And money talks in the Republican party as elsewhere. Ohio's astute Representative Clarence Brown, who is even more influential in his home state than on Capitol Hill, and has himself been mentioned as a presidential possibility will probably play a considerable part in quietly resolving the issue between the two men. A great public row between Taft and Bricker is unlikely. Yet one or the other is going to have to bow out. It is certainly possible that bruised feelings will result when the issue is finally faced, and the decision taken.

The Belle of the Ball

Like all the other Republican hopefuls (including California's Earl Warren, who has been playing it very cozy) Harold E. Stassen has been concentrating for public purposes on the present campaign. Yet like them, his eye occasionally wanders to the beckoning horizon of 1948. Since Stassen knows that he has not a chance in the world of touching the larger states like Ohio and New York, he must arrive at the convention with a solid bloc of the smaller states of New England and the Middle West.

Accordingly, Tom Coleman, the Wisconsin Republican boss whose efforts were chiefly responsible for the surprising defeat of Senator Robert LaFollette, has become the apple of the Stassen eye. There are also reports that followers of Taft are assiduously wooing Coleman, who is suddenly as politically popular as the most breathtaking beauty at a commencement ball. But since Taft's love affair with LaFollette this summer, it seems unlikely that Coleman, who is said to detest LaFollette, will encourage the Taft advances.

Wisconsin will probably thus be in the Stassen column in 1948, but the picture as a whole is not all rosy for Stassen. Stassen labors under three special disadvantages. First, Stassen's decision not to run for the senate this summer failed to endear him to many Republican solons, many of whom snort ferociously when they hear his name. It is essential that Stassen's position on Capitol Hill be improved. Stassen is busily backing like-minded Republicans, especially young veterans, in many states this fall. Stassenites hope that the new congress will have a group of upwards of 25 new Republican congressmen, not perhaps out-and-out Stassen men, but of Stassen's general political stripe.

A Job Open

Second, Stassen has always been his own campaign strategist

The "Independent Union" Movement

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON — A group of independent unions calling itself a "third labor movement" has been seeking representation in government agencies.

This group is the Confederated Unions of America (CUA), founded four years ago. For the most part, its affiliates are small, local unions, confined to a single plant, corporation or community.

The CUA claims to be growing fast but does not disclose its membership figures. The Labor Department has repeatedly tried—and failed—to get a list of affiliated unions and their membership. Partly for this reason, government agencies have not taken the CUA very seriously in its demands for recognition.

Harry Eller, CUA secretary-director, told me:

"Let me state it this way: Affiliated with and associated with us are 2,500,000 people." He did not actually claim a membership of 2,500,000.

Small Unions

There are supposed to be several million persons in small unions, often called "employee associations," at individual plants, but the exact number is unknown. The Labor Department says they are trying to develop some method of finding out.

"Independent union" can mean two things:

1. It can mean all unions not affiliated with the AFL or CIO. That would include several railroad brotherhoods, the International Association of Machinists and several other large unions.

2. The CUA uses the term to mean that unknown number of small, local, autonomous unions, having a "different outlook" from huge national organizations and now in the process of banding together as a "third labor movement."

The CUA has been attacked in the publications of some of the established labor unions.

The CUA held a convention at Milwaukee in September, and the 200 delegates took several actions indicating more conservatism than is usually found at a labor convention. For example, they voted against recommending a more liberal social security system.

Eller was asked whether those actions would indicate the CUA will support Republicans in November.

"That's not a fair interpretation," he said. "We have undertake a political education program, but the CUA doesn't tell anyone how to vote."

Eller said the CUA was "definitely more conservative than the CIO," but "there are different degrees of conservatism in the AFL."

Atwood R. Wynn of Baltimore is president of the CUA.

Present Union Structures

Here is a brief summary of the present structure of the labor movement:

The two biggest sections—

1. The AFL, claiming 7,000,000 members in more than 100 unions, such as the carpenters, United Mine Workers, Ladies' Garment Workers and musicians.

2. The CIO, claiming 6,000,000 members in about 40 unions, such as the auto workers, steelworkers, and textile workers.

Most railroad workers are in AFL unions, but the "big four" of the rail brotherhoods are neither AFL or CIO. These are the Trainmen, Locomotive Engineers, Conductors, and Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen.

The biggest unaffiliated union is the International Association of Machinists, claiming 600,000 members. This union was suspended from the AFL a year ago.

Another big organization is the National Federation of Telephone Workers, claiming 230,000 members in 47 affiliated unions. These unions are expected to merge into one big union in November.

There are quite a few other unaffiliated national unions, including the National Federation of Federal Employees, Foreman's Association of America and Mechanics Educational Society of America (MESA).

None of those unions is affiliated with the CUA. MESA used to belong but withdrew. All the unaffiliated national unions total perhaps slightly fewer than 2,000,000 members.

Finally there is the unknown quantity, the local employees' associations of the type the CUA is mainly concerned with.

Imaginary Interview on Meat

"LOOK at what John Steelman is doing," we said to President Truman the other day.

"What?" asked the President.

"Going around helping the Republicans as the vegetarians."

"How so?"

"Saying the meat shortage is going to get worse and worse and go far into 1947."

"It was sporty of him not to mention 1948," said Harry.

"How do you reconcile his statement with your recent one that there would not be a serious meat shortage next year?"

"My reconciler is all battered up, but let's see. Yes, it is still working and it says Mr. Steelman and I are not in disagreement. What I said was that there would be a meat shortage but no meat famine."

"If a man can't get meat what's the difference between a shortage and a famine?"

"Must we drag Webster into this already crowded situation?" demanded the President. "I stand on my statement that there will be no meat famine."

• • •

"Do you mean famine in the Indian sense or the American icebox sense?"

"A meat famine means a complete absence of meat. You can be standing in the middle of an absence of meat and not be in a famine."

"But I can still be hungry."

"A meat famine means that you wouldn't even be able to get a piece of meat for your dog," continued Mr. Truman.

"That does it," we said. "We've been in a famine for nine months."

• • •

"I wish Steelman would keep his mouth shut, however," said the President. "I had this meat thing licked, no subordinate had contradicted me in almost a week."

"Maybe you're to blame," we suggested. "You didn't have a little meat in the Blue Room and fail to give Steelman a cube steak?"

"If Steelman had meat would he give me any?" countered the President.

"He's a loyal servant."

"Yes, but can loyalty be expected to go that far?"

• • •

"Mister President," we suggested, "you should be very careful not to let this meat shortage get put on your doorstep."

"There is no room for it; my doorstep is already jammed up."

"How do you stand on horse meat?" we asked.

"It is good enough for the Republicans and Harold Ickes," he replied firmly.

• • •

"Have you any buffalo meat policy?"

"Hannegan is working on the buffalo situation."

"What do you think of deer and elk?"

"I don't think much about deer and elk and don't think they think much of me."

• • •

"What is your policy on bear meat," we asked Truman?"

"I may have to name a steering committee on bear meat any minute."

"You will come out for it if the committee finds bear meat wholesome?" we asked.

"No. I will come out for it if the committee finds it is reasonably red, that it can be cheaply and that the bear in question has stopped fighting back," concluded Mr. Truman.

Dinner Music

By TRUMAN TWILL

We can remember when a chicken was something that ran across the road to get to the other side. Young bloods loitering in front of pool rooms used to ogle the cuties and sign, low enough to be heard, "Oh you chicken!"

At Easter there was big business with downy little chicks and colored eggs. Afterward, the chicks were allowed to run out their destinies some to long and honorable careers in henhouses, others to the Sunday dinner table, family reunions, or long journeys by train necessitating shoebox lunches.

Chickens were a part of the daily round of chores, dependents to be fed in the morning and at night. There were problems with skunks, weasels and hawks. In the spring and early summer, there were special problems with rats and a deadly disease known as the gapes.

It was not unusual in those days to awaken half the night with a sick chicken or to almost step over a boxful of drowned-out peeps brought into the kitchen to dry under the stove. And so much loving care, qualms stirred at the thought of eating chicken—not serious qualms but little stirrings of sentiment.

Chickens were included in the general code of live-and-let-live, still being taken seriously back in those days. Sentimentalists gave much to chickens and sometimes permitted them to take unusual liberties, such as roosting on the pump handle, or policing the kitchen floor when no one was looking.

Chickens came into the world, passed through and made their exit with a semblance of the dignity cherished by humans. While it was not uncommon to purge young roosters from the flock before their time had come, even a rooster's demise was not a thing to be taken lightly. Women were not expected to seize the hatchet except in emergencies.

Chickens in those days could be taken or left alone. There was a choice. Would the consumer prefer chicken, country-cured ham, beef, pork or perhaps lamb? Or he could have guineas, fowl, turkey, goose, duck, squab, pheasant, squirrel, possum, groundhog, rabbit—and how about venison?

A man always could have something else. It was not a routine of choosing between wings and legs day after day, while wondering who would get the back and the neck. Chicken was the event. Because the price was low, the event could be staged in style with a multiplicity of edible parts, and backs and necks kept in the kitchen for soup the next day.

It seems a long time ago. Chicken has a new status. It has become the staff of life. The master-minds finally have put a chicken in every pot. The word has gone out to let the people eat necks and the part that is best on the fence. When this is over, if anyone is sane enough to be heard for the next decade, "Oh you chicken!" there will be feathers flying.

Archbishop Sentenced to 16 Years Hard Labor for Collaboration.

By The Associated Press

ZAGREB, YUGOSLAVIA, Oct. 11—Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, charged with Axis collaboration, was convicted today on all main counts of the indictment against him and was sentenced to 16 years imprisonment at forced labor by a three-judge people's court here which since Sept. 30 had been trying the archbishop, head of the Roman Catholic church of Yugoslavia, also ordered that all his property should be confiscated and deprived him of all legal rights for five years.

Stepinac was accused of aiding the Axis, the puppet Croatian Republic of Dr. Ante Pavelic and the Ustashi terrorist organization.

Erik Lisak, Ustashi colonel, was convicted also and was sentenced to hang.

A third defendant, Pavle Gunlin, described by the court as a "Ustashi terrorist," will be shot.

13 Convicted

In all, 13 men were convicted and were given sentences ranging from six months' imprisonment to death. Three were acquitted.

Lisak, informed of his death sentence, shook his fist at the court and shouted in a high-pitched voice "I will die for Croatia. Long live the independent state of Croatia."

The archbishop stood expressionless and looked straight at the court throughout the hour-long reading of the judgment and showed no emotion when his sentence was pronounced.

The audience, which had stood throughout the reading, cheered and clapped when the sentences of the archbishop and Lisak were announced.

Long List of Findings

The court president read a long list of findings against the archbishop. He was convicted of approving the forced conversion of Serbs to Catholicism, of sponsoring the organization of terrorist units and of glorifying the Ustashi in the Catholic press and in pastoral letters and speeches.

and political manager. But as the time approaches for his going abroad, and as the rivalry for the nomination deepens, the need for a Jim Farley in the Stassen camp becomes increasingly clear, a knowing professional politician to do the hard political chores. After Nov. 5, would-be Jim Farleys are advised to apply.

Finally, Stassen suffers from the fact that he has no job, no pulpit from which to speak, no base from which to operate. Despite these disadvantages, however, and the basic weakness of his position as a "young whippersnapper" to most regular Republican organization men, those who have known him are sure that Stassen is not to be counted out. He is a remarkably determined man, and he has always had the habit of success.

Police Chiefs Request Transfer of Bureau

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11—Recommendation that the Ohio Bureau of criminal identification and information be moved from the London State prison farm to Columbus was made yesterday by the Ohio Association of Police Chiefs.

Col. O. H. Cornwell, identification bureau superintendent, proposed the move in a resolution which was adopted unanimously by the police heads, meeting here in annual convention.

The proposal also asked that the bureau be operated 24 hours a day, seven days a week with a statewide teletype system, and that convict labor be banned from it.

Chief Lester Mercia of Columbus was elected president of the association and W. L. Sweet of Springfield and Ross H. Cunningham of Steubenville were chosen first and second vice president respectively. L. B. Miller of Lakewood was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

ANSWER TO SERMONETTE

Editor of The Star: I am writing regards the "Sermonette" published in your paper Oct. 5.

As a regular reader of The Star I most always turn to the church page and up to now have enjoyed the Saturday night Sermonettes, even if I didn't wholly agree on all the pastors said. I was more than shocked when I read "Drunkards Are Not Sinners."

As a Christian, I speak on Authority of the Bible and read in Romans 3:23 "All have sinned and come short of the Glory of God." Where does this place the drunkard? Exactly where he belongs, along with the most degraded sinner and the moral man and woman, if you please, who have not been redeemed through the blood of Jesus Christ, who died for our sins and arose for our justification.

I'll grant, the person, man or woman who has the drink habit whether moderate or to excess, is to be pitied because of the hellish habit he or she has become involved with, but nothing is too hard or difficult for God to straighten out. We don't need a washy-washy person to tell us alcohol won't injure one's body. Look at crippled children born of drinking mothers or fathers and you'll know the answer.

Listen to the noise and see the goings-on around the night spots. Is this pleasing to God? No. I'd certainly dislike standing before a Sunday school class, the morning after the night before, with liquor, beer or wine on my breath or in my system. We can fool people but not God! We can't serve God and mammon (Luke 16:13). It's high time we as both Christians and non-Christians, awake from our slumber and be about our Father's business, reading our Bible and winning souls to Christ, that they may be able to escape Hell, and I do mean Hell (Rev. 20th chapter).

As to the other so-called "harmless" pastime the "Sermonette" mentioned, I must say only a born-again can see the harm of these worldly amusements (Eph. 5:6).

Search the Scriptures (Jno. 5:39) you who have read the "Sermonette" and I'm sure you'll not agree fully with the statements made in it. If we put on the whole armor of God (Eph. 6:10, 18) shunning all appearance of evil, after we have truly repented of our sins we'll have no further need of drinks and all that goes with it, the so-called harmless pastimes.

ATTORNEY LOUIS CONKLE was a guest speaker for a program on Americanism when Captain William Hendricks chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution met last evening at Hotel Harding. In his talk Mr. Conkle disussed the provisions made for an alien to become a naturalized citizen and traced the steps to be taken by the applicant. Mrs. Fanny Benson, Americanization chairman, was in charge of the program. Mrs. R. E. Copeland, a non-resident member who recently returned to Marion to make her home, was welcomed. Mrs. J. C. Turner, regent, presided. The members and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Conkle, were invited for dessert and hostesses were Mrs. J. G. Cooper, Mrs. C. E. Clutter, Mrs. Alma C. Drake, Mrs. H. K. Mouser and Mrs. C. J. Watrous.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Price of Springfield, formerly of Marion, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Emma Elizabeth, to Capt. John A. McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Floyd McKee of Eaton. The wedding will take place Oct. 20, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, in the First Lutheran church in Springfield. The custom of open church will be observed. Miss Price was graduated from Harding High school and the Marion Business college and is a member of the Springfield chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International sorority. While in Marion she was employed in the office of Attorney French Crow and with the H. Schaffner Co. For the last three and one-half years she has been associated with the International Harvester Co. in Springfield. Her fiance is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. as a post signal officer. He served 25 months with the 101st Airborne division in the European theater.

Mrs. Bonar Thompson, who was Miss Helen Andrews before her recent marriage, was complimented with a shower Tuesday evening when members and friends of the Fidelis class of the First Evangelical and Reformed church met with Mrs. Russell Cramer on Congress street. Mrs. Thompson is a member of this class. Devotions by Mrs. Ray Klehm opened the program. Contests provided entertainment with all prizes going to the honored guest.

Table appointments were in blue and white, and Mrs. Thompson found her gifts pinned to a clothesline. Guests of the class were Mrs. Royal Andrews, Mrs. Wayne Harper, Mrs. Omar Williams, Mrs. James Rhoades and Howard Klehm. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Harold Jones, Mrs. Walter Purcell, Mrs. Carl Rorick, and Mrs. Klehm. Hostess for the November meeting will be Mrs. Kenneth Nye.

Mrs. T. H. McKenney, Mrs. Gordon Day and Mrs. Delmas Redding were guests when Mrs. H. J. Moore of Bellefontaine avenue entertained the M. G. R. club Wednesday afternoon. The members and guests were invited for a 1 o'clock luncheon and social afternoon. Mrs. E. H. Cooper received high honors in whoopee and Mrs. Harry Foltz was consoled. Mrs. McKenney received the guest award. Mrs. Redding was enrolled as a new member. Decorations throughout the rooms were chrysanthemums and pompons. The November meeting will be a potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Fred Rumine of Chestnut street.

Miss Virginia Baker, a bride-elect of this month, was complimented with a personal shower when Mrs. Roma Kern and Mrs. Margaret Larkin entertained in her honor Tuesday evening at Ringers Inn. Awards in cards went to Mrs. Marian Harris, Mrs. Helene Longworth, Mrs. Marjorie Shively and Miss Baker. In an open church ceremony Oct. 19 at 2:30 p. m. at Emanuel Lutheran church, Miss Baker will become the bride of Wallace L. Sandquist of Galion. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor, will officiate.

A party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hatcher of north of Edison was in honor of the twelfth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Evelyn. Contests provided entertainment and refreshments were served by Mrs. Hatcher. The celebrant also received a number of gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher also entertained with a dinner Sunday in honor of Mrs. Hatcher's father, S. P. Keener, who was celebrating his 72nd birthday anniversary. Thirty relatives and friends were present.

The Wit and Wisdom club opened its 1946-47 season Tuesday evening with a meeting at the home of Mrs. S. G. Long in Waldo, with Mrs. J. B. Corbin as assistant hostess. Mrs. Harlos Moyer conducted the meeting and Mrs. Howard Gearhiser was program chairman. A paper on "Ruth Lyons 50 Club," a radio program, was given by Mrs. Gearhiser, who was a guest on that program in June. The guessing box was won by Mrs. Clyde Porterfield.

High honors in cards were won by Mrs. Eugene Corrigan, Mrs. James Gorenflo, and Mrs. Howard Barkley when the Victoria club met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Floyd Wilson of 741 Henry street. A special award went to Mrs. Helen Bartz. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Gorenflo. The next meeting will be Nov. 13 with Mrs. Charles Keck on Oak street.

The Never Fail club was entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ray Bish on the Big Island road. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Bish. Honors in contests went to Mrs. Harry Ikensaa and Mrs. Robert Uncapher. The mystery box was won by Mrs. William Ikensaa. Mrs. D. J. Houtz was a guest. The next meeting will be Nov. 13 with Mrs. Ralph Bish on the Big Island road.

The Friendship Euchre club opened the season Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harvey Vroman of Brush Ridge. Mrs. Fred Saull received high honors and Mrs. Harry Francis the lone hand and consolation prizes. Mrs. Carl Drumm of South Dakota was a guest.

Spinster Party Held Here for Miss Watrous

A SPINSTER party for Miss Margaret Watrous was given Wednesday evening by Miss Esther Guthery at her home on Delaware avenue, and brought to a close a series of pre-nuptial social affairs for the honor guest who will become the bride of Milton S. Pohler of Kansas City, Mo., Saturday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church.

The guests were invited for dinner and Miss Watrous was complimented with a personal shower. The table centerpiece and also the flowers on the small tables were bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Russell A. Jack of Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Howard Little of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Frank Purdy of Cincinnati.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Russell A. Jack of Rochester, N. Y., entertained with a variety shower and dessert bridge at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Oliphant on Mt. Vernon avenue and Saturday Mrs. Robert D. Cripps and Mrs. Robert Willey were hostesses at a luncheon and miscellaneous shower at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bachman on East Center street. Ivy and white garden flowers carried out a green and white decorative theme for the table. On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmondson of South Prospect street entertained with a dinner for the pleasure of Miss Watrous and her fiance.

W. H. Pohler Jr., brother of the bridegroom-elect, was host for his bachelor party last evening at Hotel Harding.

Weddings

Mrs. Marie Hoffman of Caledonia is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Evelyn June, to George R. Hartpence of Columbus, which took place Sunday, Sept. 22, at Caledonia. The couple repeated the double ring ceremony read by Rev. S. E. Kaetzel, pastor of the Memorial Methodist church, at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, in the parsonage. The attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. Clarence Lenning of Coal City, Ind., and her brother, George Hoffman of Mansfield. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hartpence of Edison.

To the ceremony the bride chose a royal blue gabardine suit with which she combined black accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias. Her jewelry was earrings and a pin, a gift from the bridegroom. Mrs. Lenning was costumed in a peach shade with black hat and accessories. The bride's gift to her attendant was rhinestone earrings and Mr. Hartpence gave his best man a cigaret lighter.

The bride's mother entertained with a dinner for members of the bridal party and immediate families and later the group went to Mansfield, where the bride and bridegroom served as matron of honor and best man at the wedding of Miss Geneva Thomas of that city and George Hoffman. The new Mrs. Hoffman presented her attendant with a bracelet and Mr. Hoffman gave Mr. Hartpence a tie set.

Mrs. Hartpence was graduated from the Caledonia High school in 1940 and is employed as an inspector with the North Manufacturing Co. at Galion. Mr. Hartpence was graduated from the Caledonia High school and served for three years with the U. S. Army, 18 months of which were in the European theater. He is a department manager in the Lazarus store in Columbus. The couple will make their home with the bride's mother for the present.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included the bridegroom's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Lenning of Coal City, Ind., Miss Thomas and Mr. Hoffman of Mansfield.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Jean Avers of Indianapolis, Ind., a former resident of Marion, to Robert E. Klingenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Klingenberger of 131 Lincoln avenue. The double ring ceremony was read Sept. 15 at 2:30 o'clock at McKee Chapel of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church in Indianapolis by Rev. Harry R. Mercer. Vocal selections by Miss Lois Dyer of Indianapolis preceded the ceremony.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Avers of Indianapolis, formerly of Marion, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white nylon marquisette over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt which extended into a short train. Her fingertip veil was held with a Juliet cap trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and showered with streamers tied with white delphinium.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her cousin, Mrs. Hershel Peavler of Indianapolis, and bridesmaids were Mrs. J. B. Moorman of Anderson, Ind., and Mrs. Richard Isenhour of Indianapolis. Mrs. Peavler was attired in a pink taffeta dress fashioned with a tight bodice, sweetheart neckline, and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of blue delphinium and wore matching blossoms in her hair. Mrs. Moorman was attired in an aqua nylon marquisette dress over taffeta, and Mrs. Isenhour in blue nylon marquisette. Both were fashioned like that of the matron of honor. Mrs. Moorman carried a bouquet of peach gladioli, and Mrs. Isenhour carried pink gladioli. Each wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bride.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was his brother, James L. Klingenberger of Marion. Ushers were E. G. Bernett and William J. Fraley, both of Indianapolis.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Riviera Club. Assisting in serving were Mrs. James L. Klingenberger, Miss Alice Quaintance, and Miss Mary Fazio, all of Marion. Later the couple left on a short trip to Canada and are now residing at 1780 West 57th street in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Klingenberger, while in Marion, was employed at the Internal Revenue office. Mr. Klingenberger is a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1939 and also Bliss College in Columbus.

Attending the wedding from Marion were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Klingenberger, the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Klingenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hodges Jr., Mrs. G. W. Smith, Jack Hodges, James Bryant, Miss Alice Quaintance, Miss Mary Fazio, and Miss Blanche Kissling of Bucyrus.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Gustin of 897 North Main street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Audrey Lois, to Robert Bard Sherman of Columbus. The double ring ceremony was read Saturday, Oct. 5, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of Dr. R. H. Throop, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in Columbus.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Elizabeth Gustin of Marion, and William Sherman of Columbus served as best man for his brother.

For her wedding, the bride chose a grey wool dress with which she combined black accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of red roses. Miss Gustin was attired in a wool dress of a fuchsia shade with black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Sherman was attired in a soldier blue dress with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The new Mrs. Sherman was graduated from Harding High school with the class of 1939, Marion Business College, and attended Bliss College in Columbus. She had been employed for two and one-half years in Columbus, and is now employed at the F. J. Herr Printing Co.

Mr. Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherman of 384 Hanford street, Columbus, was graduated from South High school in Columbus in 1938. He served with the U. S. Navy two and one-half years, with 11 months of that time overseas. He is employed as a lineman with the Timken Roller Bearing Co. in Columbus where they will make their home.

Mrs. Sherman presented her sister with a compact, and Mr. Sherman gave his brother a cigaret lighter.

Attending the wedding from Marion were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gustin, the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coon, Miss Elizabeth Gustin and Mrs. Floyd Van Meter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark C. Healea of Waldo are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Dale E. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thomas of near Prospect. The double ring ceremony was read Oct. 7 by Rev. J. Albert Currier at his home in Delaware. He is a former pastor of the Methodist church at Waldo.

The bride chose for her wedding a light blue wool dress with silver trimming. With this she combined black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a dinner at their home. The couple then left on a brief wedding trip. The dinner also honored Harold Healea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Healea, who was married to Miss Dorothy Jean Ruggles of Westfield, O., Sept. 20 in Greenup, Ky.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are graduates of Waldo High school. Mr. Thomas served three and one-half years with the Army Air Corps, with 19 months of that time overseas.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Betty June Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Price of 477 Park street, to Harold E. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bell of 536 North State street. The double ring ceremony was read Sunday, Sept. 29, at Russell, Ky., by Rev. J. W. Ramey.

The bride chose for her wedding a blue suit with black accesories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and white pompons. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Mary Price. She was attired in a dark blue dress and a corsage of white carnations. Serving as best man for the bridegroom was Ralph Berry of Marion.

Mrs. Bell was graduated from Harding High school with the class of 1945 and is employed at Samilson's Dress Shop. Mr. Bell served three and one-half years in the armed forces and was with the 88th Infantry Division in Italy. He is now employed at the Red Cab Co.

A single ring ceremony read Monday at 9:30 p. m. by Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church, united in marriage Mrs. Ethel Mayer and Howard R. Johnson, both of Marion. The couple repeated their vows at the home of Mrs. Mayer at 211 Jefferson street before an improvised altar.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Doris Schumacher, daughter of Mrs. Mayer, and Donald Johnson, son of Mr. Johnson. A reception for a number of guests was held after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home at Belle Center, O.

Those attending the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Hook, Mr. and Mrs. James Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Schumacher, and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Mayer, all of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Gale Livingston and family of Lexington; Mrs. Ruth Merriman of Richwood; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Berry and family, Mrs. Clara Berry, and Miss Ruth Berry, all of Byhalia.

The marriage of Miss Donna Southward and Duane Denton, which took place Sept. 21, in Ashland, Ky., is being announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Morgan of 582 Universal avenue, with whom the bride has made her home for the last two years. Rev. R. E. Moore, pastor of the Methodist church, read the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Denton is the daughter of James Southward of Upper Sandusky and Mr. Denton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Denton of 570 Uncapher avenue. Mr. Denton served with the armed forces in England and is now employed at the Marion Engineer Depot. They are making their home at 198½ West Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hornbeck of 224 Bellevue avenue are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Marian, to Raymond Wortman of Columbus. The ceremony took place Aug. 24 in Richmond, Ind., with Rev. Potter officiating. The bride, a graduate of Harding High school in 1944, has been employed at Wright Field, Dayton. Mr. Wertman was graduated from Jackson High school in Columbus and is employed with the state department in Columbus where the couple will make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Hornbeck entertained 25 guests at their home Sunday in honor of the couple.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mrs. Beulah Burnison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cottrell of 289 Chicago avenue, to Don Reams of Kenton. The ceremony was read Thursday, Oct. 3, at 6:30 p. m. by Rev. H. M. McAdow, pastor of Wesley Methodist church, at his home on Blaine avenue. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Williams. The couple will reside in their newly furnished home at 876 Oak Grove avenue.

Engineers have calculated that mud left by the annual Nile River floods raises the land level an average of four inches a century. The Nile valley floor today is generally 20 to 30 feet higher than when the pyramids were built.

Galion Red Cross Executive Resigns

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 11—At a special meeting of the executive board of the Galion Chapter of the American Red Cross, Tuesday night, the resignation of Mrs. Barbara Adams as executive secretary, was accepted.

Mrs. Stuart Ebert, the former Harriet Wisterman, was named assistant executive secretary on Oct. 15, and will assume the secretaryship when Mrs. Adams leaves the first of the year to enter Ohio State university to continue work on her master's degree in the college of education. Mrs. Adams has been executive secretary since Jan. 1. The position before that time was held by Mrs. Charles B. Monroe.

The chairman of the membership campaign will be Walter Mason. His appointment by the Galion Kiwanis club was confirmed at the Tuesday night meeting of the executive board of the Red Cross. The fund drive will open next March 1.

The Choice of THRIFTY FARMERS

The Cobey Wagon enables the farmer to meet any hauling need with the top efficiency afforded only by a specialized body. The various body types are so designed that they can be changed from one to the other by changing only the attachments.

THE PLATFORM IS PERMANENT

Can be turned very "short" but holds its balance whether empty or loaded

The extra-large overall size of platform—7 ft. x 14 ft. makes possible the hauling of bulky loads. Weight capacity of three tons.

The Cobey Wagon has an exceptionally low mounting heighth—only 31½ inches from ground to floor. Convenient lift rings on both side rails facilitate dumping operations.

Perfect balance, tapered roller bearings and patented axle and sill construction; requires less motive power per pound-of-load.

Empty or with a capacity load, you can take the Cobey hi-speed Wagon over good roads at 40 miles per hour without developing a "whipping" action. Automotive type of steering, low center of gravity, roller bearings, disc wheels and pneumatic tires all help to make this the "safe" hi-speed farm wagon.

Utility Head Speaks Here

Jerome Powers Attends Dinner Meeting of Water Co. Employes.

Jerome Powers of New York, president of the Marion Water Co, spoke at a dinner meeting of employes of the company Wednesday evening in Hotel Harding. The meeting was the first annual event the company has had since the close of the war.

Mr. Powers congratulated local employes for "their loyalty and the fine job done in maintaining the high standards of company service during the trying war years," and asked the cooperation of all employes in the company's objectives of maintaining high standards.

He asked that each employe be fully aware of his responsibilities as waterworks employes to safeguard the water supply of the city which has been entrusted to them. Mrs. Powers also was present.

Mr Powers visited the Marion plant Wednesday and he and Mrs Powers returned to New York Thursday afternoon.

General theme of the meeting was how to better serve the citizens of Marion with water service Fifty-five employes and their wives were present. An educational film, 'Your Boss and Mine," was shown instructing new employes and the wives present in the many different operations necessary in order to deliver water to the homes 24 hours each day.

Manager L. Otis Porter presided and welcomed back seven returned service men. Chief Engineer James Gruver, Chemist Charles Whysall, General Foreman Carl Meddles and Marie Wolf, cashier, each in turn introduced the employes in their respective departments.

Other out of town guests were Robert Johnson, manager of the Ashtabula, O, Water Co and Mrs Johnson and Mr and Mrs Robert Kehrer, engineer of the home office engineering staff who has been in Marion for several weeks assisting in overhauling the steam pumping engines at the local plant. He is from New York.

Manager Porter in his closing remarks said he felt sure the citizens of Marion have good reason to have confidence in their water supply and the employes representing it and encouraged them to invite the customers to drop in at the plant for an inspection at any time.

CPA Tightens Rules for Building Projects

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11—New restrictions will make it more difficult to build swimming pools, boardwalks, concrete surfaces for tennis courts, drive-in theaters or parking lots, roller coasters or similar amusement park devices, George A. Moore, regional director of the civilian production administration, reported today.

A $200 limit on such structures has been placed through amendments of CPA order VHP-1 which went into effect Oct. 7, Moore explained.

"The purpose is to make more material available for housing, particularly cement which has become a critical item," Moore said.

CAREY CHURCH PLANS ORDINATION SERVICE

Special to The Star

CAREY—On Sunday the Most Reverend Karl J. Alter, bishop of Toledo, will confer sacred orders at Our Lady of Consolation church in Carey. Candidates for ordination will include seminarians from the Diocese of Toledo, from the Sacred Heart seminary, Shelby, and from Our Lady of Carey.

Father Fred Nietfeld of Oak Harbor, member of the Diocese of Toledo, will be ordained to the priesthood. This will be the first time that ordination to the priesthood has been held in Carey. Four seminarians from Sacred Heart seminary will be ordained deacons.

The four Franciscan friars from Our Lady of Carey seminary will be among those ordained. Five of these will be made subdeacons. They are Friars Boniface Blanco, OFMConv., Pueblo, Colo.; Conrad Schaefgold, Toledo; Donald Scniffle, Waterloo, Ind.; Aloysius Jacoby, Carey and Bonaventure Crowley, Lansing, Mich.

Friar Ronald Preghasco, OFMConv., of Louisville, Ky., and Friar Julian Dinkel of Beaver Dam, Wis., will receive the Minor Order of Exorcist and Acolyte.

Six other friars are to receive Tonsure and the Minor Orders of Porter and Lector. These are Friars Killian Speckner OFMConv., and Kenneth Walker, both of Louisville, Ky.; David Hutt, Jeffersonville, Ind.; Arthur Young, Flyra O.; Columban Dunn, Chicago, and Cyril Janicek, Milwaukee.

Traffic Check Held by Highway Patrol

The Marion district of the state highway patrol held a traffic check Thursday night from 9 to 10 at the junction of Routes 95 and 95.

A total of 74 cars were stopped and checked for safety features, including lights, horn, windshield wipers and brakes. Seven warnings were issued all for tail or headlights. The 10 per cent average is typical of defective vehicles, judging from the recent six-weeks campaign sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, highway patrolmen said.

OPA Frees Apparel Made of Pure Silk

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Price controls were removed today from pure silk underwear and all other apparel and accessories made wholly from pure silk or pure linen.

If the pure silk or pure linen is combined with any other fiber, such as cotton, rayon or wool, the resulting products remain under price ceilings.

OPA today also:

Removed price lids from domestic green olives because they provide less than one-fifth of the total supply consumed and are insignificant in the cost of living." Ceilings remain in effect for imported Spanish green olives and these are expected by OPA to prevent domestic green olives prices from soaring.

Sheep Dog Trials To Be Run Saturday

First sheep dog trials in the history of Marion county will be run off tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Ray Gatewood farm on Route 95 nine miles east of Marion.

Invitations to 50 owners in Ohio have been mailed out, and, although Mr. Gatewood said he has not yet contacted D. S. Bell of Wooster, Ohio Sheep Dog Breeders official who will conduct the trials, and who has received entries, he expects a sizeable number of dogs to compete.

The public is invited to the trials. There will be no charge.

Frank Swensen of Harpster is expected to enter a dog in the meet.

It will be sport enthusiasts of Marion county's first opportunity to see such trials. The dogs are required to herd a group of sheep over a course of several hundred yards past obstacles into a pen. The only human aid they may receive is through the hand motions and whistles of their masters.

Program Is Presented by United Grange

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Kline and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fulton were in charge of the program at a meeting of United Grange Tuesday night in the Grange hall. The numbers were as follows: whistling solo by Mrs. Chester Lyon, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Brocklesby, reading by Miss Peggy Clary; an illustrated picture drawn by Miss Mary Brocklesby while Mrs. Curtis Frey gave a reading and Mrs. Brocklesby played a selection at the piano.

An announcement was made of a meeting of Pomona Grange to be held Saturday night, Oct. 26, at the Claridon school. At this time, the fifth degree will be conferred by a degree team from Delaware county. A miscellaneous shower was held for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roberts who were recently married. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Frey, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brockelsby.

Federal Aid Granted Three Communities

Three communities in this area have received grants from the Federal Works Agency to finance preparation of plans for public improvements, The Associated Press reported today from Washington.

Included are Kenton Hardin county, sewer extensions and repairs, estimated cost, $91,000, federal advance, $4,100, board of education of Alger Hardin county, local school district, school addition, $124,000 and $1,000, and Perrysville, Ashland county sewerage system, $72,780 and $3,600. Five other Ohio communities also received grants.

JOHN WORLINE DIES

ASHLEY, Oct. 11—John Worline, formerly of west of Ashley, died Thursday night in the home of a son, Harry Worline, at Clinton, N. J. He was a farmer in this community and left here about 15 years ago. Surviving with his son is a daughter, Mrs. Georgia Cartwright of Doylestown, Pa. Funeral arangements in charge of the C. R. Lee funeral home here, were not complete at noon today.

RETIRED FARMER OF LA RUE IS STRICKEN

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 11—Mack Mitton, 83, a retired farmer, died of complications Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lucille Anderson of LaRue.

The deceased was born Aug. 28, 1863, in Big Island township and had been a resident of Marion county for the past 18 years. On Dec. 5, 1890, he married Blanche Carey who preceded him in death.

He is survived by one son, Edward, of Marion, four daughters, Mrs. Gladys Rawlins of Richwood, Mrs. Ruth Worline of LaRue, Mrs. Lucille Anderson of LaRue, and Hazel Mitton of Marion, eleven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted at the LaRue Methodist church at 2 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Hutchinson officiating. Burial will be in Price cemetery at LaRue.

The body was taken from the Porter-Hall funeral home of Kenton to the home of Mrs. Anderson where friends may call.

MEAT

ished by next April 1, three months in advance of OPA's scheduled demise.

The Ohio Republican, who fought hard against most administration theories in the OPA battle last summer, issued his statement as President Truman canvassed the politically potent meat problem at a cabinet meeting.

"Now that the meat problem is resting in his lap," Taft said, 'Mr. Truman has prepared for 'emergency action' the promise that something vaguely indefinite may be done which is deemed to divert attention of meat-hungry voters until Nov. 5, although it seems much too late to help the Democratic candidates who are facing the empty stomachs of their constituents in less than a month.

'No matter what is done, it will take some time to clear up the mess the President's policies have created."

Election Called "Crisis"

The Republican senator said 'the crisis' the President and his associates actually see is the coming election.

The "most shocking" proposal which has been raised, Taft declared is the importation of Argentine beef on a large scale.

He declared:

"After all, what is the difference if a temporary supply is obtained to tide us over until after the elections? The possible destruction of the livestock business in the U. S. would be of little importance compared to losing an election."

For the third consecutive Friday, meat was tagged a top subject at the regular weekly cabinet session.

This time the President could report on a conference of key government officials in which he sat in personally in order to size up what could or should be done about the lack of steaks and chops.

Truman Sees Aides

The hour and three-quarter session was held late yesterday at the White House. There Mr. Truman met with Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, Attorney General Tom Clark, OPA Administrator Paul Porter, a top aide of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, and other officials.

While White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said no decision was reached, one high government official said he expects there will be one "very soon," although not before tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the possibility of removing price ceilings on meat as a solution moved to the fore again.

Mr. Truman pushed this course into the spotlight at his news conference yesterday by declining to comment on a question whether he still favors keeping ceilings on meat.

Opposed 2 Weeks Ago

Two weeks ago the Chief Executive said unequivocally that he was opposed to scrapping controls.

The beef packing industry yesterday filed its formal petition for elimination of ceilings, and Anderson's approval is all that would be required.

The secretary has promised prompt action" on the petition.

However, in a speech at Geneva, N. Y., last night he declared the issue is not 'beef before election.'

"We are in this for the long pull," he said, 'and the action of the department of agriculture must be taken in the knowledge that we are still living in an upset world."

No Improvement Seen

On the political side, some administration advisers have contended that decontrol could not result in any big improvement before the Nov. 5 election. They have taken the position that it would take at least two to three weeks to get meat to butcher shops and even then the quantity might not be large.

Hence reports persisted at the agriculture department that whatever action the government takes may be limited to channeling more meat animals from small to big packers in an effort to get the widest possible distribution.

At his news conference Mr. Truman had no comment when a reporter asked whether he believes that public dissatisfaction over the meat shortage is likely to be reflected in the November elections.

• Electricity has done more to help you to a happier, healthier, more interesting life than any other one thing. Most of the development of industry and the cultural life of American communities can be attributed directly to the development of electrical power and electrical applications.

The electrification of industry was probably the most important factor in the development of straight-line production in industry, because it enabled industrial planners to place machines where they could do the best job most efficiently. And the development of straight-line production has done more to lower prices of such products as automobiles, refrigerators, ranges, and similar products than any other one thing. In so basic an industry as steel making, the electrification of rolling mills and other steel processing machines has helped materially in bringing down raw material prices. Reductions in raw material prices and in manufacturing costs have meant the lowering of retail prices which have made it possible to bring many products regarded as luxuries in other parts of the world, down to the level of necessities in America.

And so it is throughout industry and commerce. Industries can be located most advantageously due to the development of long distance electric power transmission. Improvements in lighting, in air conditioning, and using devices have made industry and commerce safe for workers, have raised the health levels of employees in industry, and have made many dangerous places efficient as the same time that industry's jobs have been made less taxing.

In the home countless electrical appliances have made women's work easier, more efficient, freeing [illegible] of women's work, bring [illegible] to the old [illegible] leisure, pleasure [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] so [illegible]

And in the home, too, the development of lighting, the development of conditioned air devices, and sun lamps, and many other appliances have made the home a healthier place in which to live as well as a happier place in which to live.

That is why I feel that I have quite a definite contribution to the future happiness of our country's citizens. Communities which today enjoy the advantages and benefits of a dependable power supply face the future with the best prospects of growth and development. I want you to know that I am doing everything possible to make my source of electric power supply the most dependable and efficient possible.

British To Erect Memorial To Roosevelt in London Square

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 11—The house of commons laid aside lawmaking today to express its admiration for Franklin Delano Roosevelt, whom Winston Churchill ranked above Washington and Lincoln.

Led by Prime Minister Attlee and opposition leader Churchill, all political parties joined in approving a bill to erect a Roosevelt Memorial in Grosvenor Square, site of the U. S. embassy and center of American planning for European liberation.

Attlee described the late President as one who "combined the qualities of the fearless idealist with those of the far-seeing and prudent man of affairs."

"His practical appreciation of what was possible never hampered the breadth of vision of what was desirable," the prime minister said.

"He stood emphatically for the common man in all countries. It is fitting that this memorial in London should come from the contributions of the common men and women."

The memorial plan was sponsored by the American Pilgrims society in London. Its $160,000 cost is to be raised by $1 subscriptions.

Attlee had observed that Roosevelt would join Washington and Lincoln as the only American Presidents memorialized in London statues. The Washington memorial overlooks Trafalgar square and a replica of the Lincoln statue in the Springfield memorial faces Westminster Abbey.

But Churchill said he felt "the changes associated with Washington would probably have come to pass in due course by the irresistible evolution of events" and added:

"Can we doubt that slavery would have been abolished even apart from the work of Abraham Lincoln?"

"There are many tests by which we can try to measure the greatness of men who have served high causes," Churchill added. "I shall select only one * * * the favorable influence exerted upon the fortunes of mankind. In this respect the name of President Roosevelt gains preeminence even over the illustrious figures we have mentioned."

Churchill termed Roosevelt "the greatest champion of freedom" and said he "not only anticipated history but also its course and altered it in a manner that saved the freedom and earned the gratitude of the human race for generations to come."

"Had he not resolved to give aid to Britain and to Europe in the supreme crisis he have passed, mankind might well have been overwhelmed and its whole future for centuries sunk in shame and ruin," he said.

OSU Meat Grading Class Cancelled — No Material

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11 — An animal husbandry course in the Ohio State university twilight school has been cancelled because of "lack of laboratory materials."

The materials are meats.

The university farms are trying so desperately to provide meat for the record-breaking enrollment of students that they can't spare any extra cuts to be used in teaching meat selection and identification.

weekly five-minute campaign broadcasts last night. The governor's speech was confined to "The Veteran" and in it he promised that the next general session of the legislature he would "urge adoption of a bonus proposal to submit to the people of Ohio for their approval."

Immediate payment of such a bonus, however, was opposed by Lausche because of present inflationary prices. "Greater good can be done for the veteran," he said, "if the bonus is paid to him when the cost of goods will have a reasonable relationship to their true value."

He cited a $6,000,000 appropriation for veterans' housing and added facilities at state universities for veterans' education as achievements of his administration and promised "to give my help to the returning veterans and to make certain that the state will fulfill its obligation to them."

In Columbus last night, the city's Retail Grocers' Association announced that it had asked its 400 members and 500 other Franklin county food dealers to vote "the straight Republican ticket" and to contribute to the Republican campaign fund.

Harry A. Nation, association secretary, said the request and a "substantial contribution" by association directors to the Republican finance committee were unprecedented in the association's 62-year history and reflected "dealers' wrath over the meat shortage."

Montgomery Township Ditch Petition Granted

Marion county commissioners Thursday approved a petition for deepening and widening the Enoch-Dome-Clark ditch in Montgomery township and ordered the county engineer to make a survey of the project and prepare estimates to be submitted by Jan. 6. The petition was filed by H. H. Heller.

Railway Brotherhood Gets CIO Resolution

By The Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 11—A Toledo delegate, T. C. Griffith, introduced a resolution today for affiliation of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen with the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The matter was argued on the floor at the trainmen's convention with a majority of speakers favoring the abandonment of the brotherhood's independent status and its 218,000 members becoming CIO affiliates.

It was referred to the joint relations committee, which was instructed to study the proposition and report to the convention in about a week.

E. F. GLASSMEYER OF FAHEY STREET DIES

Illness Fatal to Former Richwood Teamster.

Edwin F. Glassmeyer, 89, died at 9:05 a. m. today at 342 Fahey street at the home of Mrs. Delphia Brown where he resided. He was ill three weeks and suffered from a heart ailment.

Born in 1857 in Pennsylvania, he was a resident of Richwood for a time, where he was employed as a teamster, then came to Marion about 34 years ago.

Surviving are 12 children.

The body was taken to the M. H. Gunder and Sons funeral home on West Center street where friends may call after Saturday noon.

3 Marion Kiwanians To Attend Convention

Three members of the Marion Kiwanis club will represent the club at the 1946 convention of the Ohio Kiwanis district to be held Oct. 15-18 in Columbus, it was announced by Anson E. Pickerel, club president. They are Mr. Pickerel, E. L. Cleveland, president elect, and J. D. Torrance, secretary.

A feature of the meeting will be an address by Lee Campbell, a merchant of Middlesboro, Ky., and a member of the board of trustees of Kiwanis International. Another highlight will be the election of officers and the presentation of the 1947 objectives of Kiwanis International. One hundred and thirty-five clubs in the district are expected to send delegates.

CALLED ON GRASS FIRE

Only call received by the fire department yesterday was a grass fire in a West Center street lot near the Marion Union Stockyards at 8:08 p. m. Its origin was undetermined. There was no loss. The call was answered by Engine Co. No. 2.

Halloween Prizes on Display

Marion school kids can get a look at the kind of prizes they can win in the police department's mammoth Halloween parade and party by stopping by Henney and Cooper drug store's window.

A few—a mere fraction, police officials in charge of the program say—of prizes offered are being displayed there. Included are two bicycles, for the boy and girl who dress up in the most original and striking costumes.

"But you kids haven't seen anything yet," the benevolent boys in blue add. "We've got footballs, basketballs, volleyballs, roller skates, football helmets and shoulder pads, tennis shoes, coaster wagons, electric erector sets, flashlights, model airplanes, cameras, sweaters, and plenty of other things."

About 250 prizes all of real value, have been stockpiled already, and police say they're only about a quarter of the way along.

About all that are missing are nylons and beefsteaks, and if police thought the small fry were interested in such items, they'd probably dig some up.

Merchants are cooperating splendidly, V. H. Campbell, head of the Halloween committee of Marion County Lodge No. 24, Fraternal Order of Police, said.

MEAL PRICE RISE DELAYED

Restaurant Officials Say Week Needed To Put Raise Into Effect.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11 — The OPA regulation permitting restaurants to increase prices of meals and items won't affect patrons' pockets at some establishments for perhaps a week, President Walter S. Wood of the Ohio State Restaurant association estimated today.

The new regulation, effective yesterday, allows a 15 per cent increase in the prices of meals and food items having meat as their major ingredient.

Before the new prices can be charged, Woods explained, restaurants must figure their costs under it and file the re-computed menus with their price control boards by Nov. 5.

The Ohio State Restaurant association has recommended that its 1,500 members comply with the new regulation as soon as possible. However, Woods pointed out, restaurant operators in Cuyahoga, Lake and Geauga counties will not hear the regulation explained by OPA officials until Oct. 17.

"So how," he asked, can restaurateurs comply if they aren't entirely certain of what they are supposed to do?"

In other parts of the state, these OPA orientation meetings run through Oct. 31. L. W. Hurlbert of the Cleveland OPA office has scheduled meetings as follows: Youngstown, Oct. 15, Akron, Oct. 16; Lorain, Oct. 21; Toledo, Oct. 22; Lima, Oct. 23; Tiffin, Oct. 24; Deshler, Oct. 28; Mansfield, Oct. 29; Wooster, Oct. 30, and Canton, Oct. 31.

Other meetings with restaurant operators will be held soon at Ashtabula, Warren, East Liverpool and New Philadelphia, Hurlbert announced.

Wood reported the executive board of his association in Columbus yesterday voted to notify the National Restaurant association, now meeting in Los Angeles, that it regards the new OPA price regulation as inadequate, impractical and unenforceable, and urges the national association to press for decontrol of the restaurant industry.

Wood said decontrol could be asked validly now on the grounds that restaurant facilities at present exceed the demand for meals in restaurants.

HOW ROSENBERG SAW HIS FELLOW NAZIS

Miss West Virginia Now Student at Marietta

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 11 — Miss Norma Sailsbury, "Miss West Virginia" of 1946, was busy today with such subjects as sociology, geology, French, English and drama.

The 18-year-old blonde from Parkersburg, W. Va., and formerly of Springfield, O., began studies at Marietta college yesterday on a $2,000 scholarship.

The scholarship was her reward for winning the state beauty title at Atlantic City, N. J., where she competed for the "Miss America" crown.

Hospital Patient's Neighbors Harvest 12 Acres of Corn

Thirty-six residents of near Claridon proved today that in spite of strikes, shortages, and war-scares of these jittery times, good-neighborliness is just as much alive in Ohio as it ever was.

Thursday morning about 8 o'clock they pitched in and cut 12 acres of corn in two hours on the farm of William Krautter about two and a half miles southwest of Claridon. Mr. Krautter underwent an operation at Marion City hospital Oct. 3 and is still there.

The work was planned by Harley Shuey, William and Harry Wickersham and Omer Klinefelter.

Those with corn binders were: Harley Shuey, William Wickersham, Omer Klinefelter, Luther Mitchell, Ben Knauer, Orrie Myers.

Others who cut by hand, and set up after binder were: A. G. Fellchner, John Welse, James Fields, Royal Fields, Harley Klinefelter, Emerson Klinefelter, Jim Denzer, Jack McClenathan, Merle Wright, J. F. Tittelbaugh, John Myers, Emmet Trout.

Circulation Managers Study Carrier Plan

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11—The Ohio Circulation Managers association has named two representatives to confer with the state department of education on a program to obtain school credit for education and business training newsboys receive in handling their routes.

Clem O'Rourke of the Cleveland Press and Russell Stokley of the Elyria Chronicle Telegram were named at the association's convention yesterday to discuss with state education officials the program, similar to a plan now in effect in some states.

Delmas Jenkins, circulation manager of The Star, attended the convention. He is serving his second year as a member of the association's board of directors.

AUXILIARY ELECTS

By The Associated Press

HAMILTON, O., Oct. 11—Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll of Wilmington is the new president of Ohio District Four of the United Spanish-American War Veterans' auxiliary. Elected here yesterday at the district's 31st annual convention, she succeeds Mrs. Lou E. Carroll of Hamilton.

MASONS INSTALL

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11 — The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Ohio installed James A. Gorham of Bellevue yesterday as Grand High Priest at the close of the order's 130th annual convocation. Other officers elected included Herbert T. Leyland of Dayton, Deputy Grand High Priest; Amos H. Englebeck of Akron, Grand Scribt, and Mont C. Hambright of Springfield, Grand Secretary.

EXPECT 200 SCOUTS AT COUNCIL OUTING

Annual Event To Be Held Saturday and Sunday.

More than 200 Boy Scouts from Harding Area Council are expected to attend the Council's 1946 annual camporee at Camp John A. Owens Saturday and Sunday.

Scouters and Scouts from all parts of Marion, Crawford, Morrow and Wyandot county have indicated their desire to attend.

The project is being directed by Hugh F. Ray, Scout executive; and Joseph L. Schlosser and Karl Bechtle, field executives.

The boys will arrive at camp Saturday afternon and will be required to set up camp themselves. They will bring their own tents. They must also bring their own cooking equipment and will be required to cook their own food.

There will be awards offered for proficiency in setting up camp, cooking and contests which will be held. In addition to camping and cooking demonstrations, the boys will participate in compass training, nature study, knife and axe training and other Scouteraft.

Fun events will also be held, including tug-o-war, an undressing relay race and a sack race.

Camp will be closed at noon Sunday so that the Scouts can attend the Harding Memorial pilgrimage in Marion.

Boots originated in Greece and half shoes, or oxfords, appeared in Europe during the Middle Ages.

A new method has been perfected to depigment cottonseed and produce an almost white meal.

Harding Guns for Upset at Lima While St. Mary Entertains Marysville Here

Out to break its losing streak, the Harding grid organization invades the Lima South home field tonight firmly believing that they will be able to conquer the favored Tigers. Both teams will be victory hungry and prospects of a real scrap are evident.

St. Mary will play a "rub" contest with the Marysville Monarchs tonight at the stadium. Both teams have a pair of victories over the other in a span of engagements covering 37 years. Marysville in 1919 put a visiting St. Mary team down to the tune of 13 to 0 and when hostilities were resumed between the two schools, St. Mary won 33 to 6 in 1943 and 19 to 0 in 1944. Marysville bounced back last year to hand the Irish a 6 to 0 defeat.

An account of the contest played 27 years ago says that the game was more argued than fought both teams vesting their wrath on the officials more than the opposition.

Prexies Out "To Show 'Em"

The hapless Prexies will be fighting tooth and nail tonight to prove that given opposition of more nearly their own caliber they can turn in a performance capable of winning ball games. This does say that the Harding squad is looking for weak opponents but the squad has run up against some of the best in the state and the inexperience of majority of the squad made it impossible for Coach Thomas and his staff to produce a winner to this date.

Tonight's fray will be an indication of how much the squad has progressed since the Prexie coaches have started their work of attempting to mold a winning eleven for the school.

Have Advantage

The Lima team will have the advantage in tonight's game in that they will be playing in their own territory and have already chalked up two victories proving that they have scoring punch—something seemingly lacking in the Presidents. Coach Thomas has no scat backs on his squad so will have to work on making long concentrated drives for the scores his boys will need to give them the win.

Harding passing which has not been really productive since the Mansfield game can still be posed as a threat to opponents and should Jim Rex and his receivers get into accord again the Prexie aerial attack can become a major factor in the team's chances of victory. The record would seem to indicate that Harding will again use a number of pass plays. This born out by the statistics which show that the Chief Executives have tried an average of 20 per game in their previous contests.

Comparison of the teams indicates that tonight will see two evenly matched squads in a rough and close game.

St. Mary Crippled

St. Mary out to gain a lead over the Monarchs in their series of so many years and so few games will not present its full strength against the visitors. However the Marysville team is also dogged by injuries. Dan Dayton, a 170-pound left end suffered a cut at required several stitches over his left eye Tuesday night and King Forry, the other end, suffered a cracked rib in the Richwood contest last week. Both will see action however.

Coach Fetter commenting on some of his plans for defeating the incumbent champion of the Mid-State league says that he will slightly alter his defensive set up.

Marysville's offense is on the same order that the Tiffin Calvert offense was and Fetter is planning to be able to cope with it. Whether the winner of this contest gains undisputed possession of the top rung in the league depends upon how Mt. Gilead makes out with Richwood. At present the teams are in a three way tie for the lead.

The players' fathers will be honored in a Dad's day program and the Marysville marching band will provide the music before the game and during the half time period.

Forecaster Sees Rough Going for Army at Michigan Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 — Army reads into Michigan today on the prowl for its 22nd consecutive victory—but will be denied, in the opinion of this grid forecaster who is making his fourth 1946 trip down the rocky road.

Doc Blanchard's ailing leg didn't enter into the thought process that brought about that conclusion. But the absence of two All-America tackles and a similarly honored guard from the 1945 Army squad, which whipped Michigan by a 28 to 7 score after a torrid afternoon, did influence the verdict.

Blanchard, virtually untested this season, may be sound again. But without him the Cadets gained only 83 yards along the ground against a green Oklahoma team. Knowing that Michigan has both an air offense and a pass defense, the choice is Michigan.

Texans Picked

Texas over Oklahoma. After Saturday afternoon, the Sooners will remember their visit to West Point with added pleasure.

Notre Dame over Purdue. Even if Bob De Moss had escaped injury in the Purdue practices the result would be the same.

UCLA over Stanford. For a school that dropped the sport during the war the Stanford Indians have come a long way back in two short weeks but not enough to spill Cal Rossi and Co.

Duke over Navy. It is seldom that a Duke team drops two in a row as the 1946 Blue Devils already have done. It is unheard of for them to lose three in a row. That makes it simple.

Yale over Columbia. The two teams are virtually equal as regards backfield material but Yale has the superior line.

St. Mary's over California. Herman Wedemeyer and his St. Mary's gang take special delight in knocking off the West Coast name teams. They'll have a very pleasant afternoon.

Ohio State over Wisconsin. The Buckeyes defeated Southern California last Saturday. A week earlier the Badgers downed California. By nightfall Saturday the Bucks will be the champions of the state of California.

Oklahoma A & M over SMU. The Aggies, despite the injuries to three of their ace backs in the 54 to 6 massacre by Texas last week should have enough left.

Georgia over Kentucky. Ermal Allen has been ruled ineligible at Kentucky. He would be useful to the Wildcats tonight but the result would be the same.

Princeton over Harvard. Harvard teams seldom are at their best until November and Princeton has a sparkling pass attack.

Arkansas over Baylor. Clyde Scott, the ex-naval academy ace has made the razorbacks a Southwest conference power.

Quick Looks

Slipping over the rest in a hurry.

Friday: Boston College over Kings Point, George Washington over Rollins, Georgetown over Fordham, The Citadel over Newberry, South Carolina over Furman, Miami over Texas Christian, Drake over Wichita, Delaware over Western Maryland, Denver over Colorado A and M, College of the Pacific over Santa Barbara.

Saturday:

Midwest: Kansas over Iowa State, Missouri over Kansas State, Iowa over Nebraska, Illinois over Indiana, Northwestern over Minnesota, Mississippi State over Michigan State, Marquette over Idaho, Oberlin over Case, Carnegie Tech, Cincinnati over Denison.

Penalty Aids Edison in 6 to 0 Victory Over Upper Sandusky

Coming at precisely the correct moment, an off-side penalty, the only one of the game, saved the Edison junior high gridders from a tie and possible loss to Upper Sandusky yesterday afternoon.

Edison had been leading throughout the game by the margin of a touchdown score in the first quarter when the Upper Sandusky gridders started a drive on their own 6 in the fourth that saw them cross the hosts goal line from the three only to have the gain nullified by the penalty. Time then ran out on the visitors and Edison gained their first win of the season.

Edison was the master of the event for the first three quarters receiving the kick off on their own 45 and starting their drive from their own 49. Browning made the touchdown on a run to the left from the Upper eight.

Upper received the kick off and got to their own 44 only to fumble as the first quarter ended. Edison again appeared to be touchdown bound but the visiting gridmen became stubborn and forced them to relinquish the ball on downs 10 yards from the goal line. Gaining the ball, Upper got to the 14 and the half was ended.

The second half saw Edison taking the kick off and marching 50 yards only to be held once more, Upper gaining the ball on their own six. Fullback Lenhart cracked the line time and time again sparking the drive past midfield. Then a pass, Bennett to Koehler, was good for 30 yards to the Edison 17. Bennett skirted the left end going to the three and went over but the penalty put the ball on the eight and the game ended with Upper on the six still in possession.

Line-ups

Edison		Upper Sandusky

Scoring summary: Edison—Browning 1.

Substitutions: Edison backs Craft and R. Smith; line, Harbin and Allen. Upper Sandusky line: Koehler. Officials: Petrich, Wiles and Simpson.

Nenoff, Cumming Win Wrestling Tussles

Steve Nenoff came back after losing the first fall last night to defeat Rod Fenton on the Armory mat. Fenton won the first fall in 15 minutes with a head lock. Nenoff gaining the second fall in five minutes with a self strangle. A crab hold gave Nenoff the third fall in four minutes.

In the other main go Bob Cumming also took the last two falls to win. Monty LaDue using a body slam and body press gained the first fall in 14 minutes. Cumming won the second fall in three minutes with a left hook and body press. The match was won with a body slam and press.

In the preliminary Dick Mutton won over Jim Garvie in five minutes.

Cleveland Fighter Wins Akron Tussle

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Oct. 11—Joe Maxim, 184, of Cleveland floored Clarence Jones, 201, of Buffalo in the second round with a right to the stomach and kept a decided edge throughout their 10-round bout at the armory last night to take an easy decision. In five-round preliminaries Jim Saunders, 146, Warren, defeated Art Kimmel, 145, Pittsburgh; and Moe Harvey, 136, Warren, decisioned LeRoy Koeth, 135, Cleveland.

Weatherman Comes Through at Boston

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 11—The Boston Rex Sox and St. Louis Cardinals will play their fifth World Series game in sunny weather today.

The Boston weather bureau forecaster said gentle, not too warm, easterly winds would prevail and that the temperature would be about 55. "There isn't a chance of rain," the forecaster said.

Fearless Forecaster Predicts Kenyon Will Break Long Fast

By DON STULL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11 — Courage is what you need most of to be a pigskin prognosticator.

We don't hold any congressional Medal of Honor, but we're willing to predict:

Kenyon's Lords will defeat Hiram's Terriers at Gambier Saturday.

And if you think that isn't courageous, listen. Kenyon hasn't won a major sporting event for so long it's hard to remember. They lost six straight football games and 18 straight basketball games last year.

But we've a hunch that string will end as the Lords open their season.

Backs Up Prediction

For an idea on how good that hunch can be, we offer this. We had a hunch last week and picked Ashland to beat Ohio Northern. Ashland did, 6 to 0, for the Eagles' first triumph over the Polar Bears in 21 years of gridiron association.

Out of 23 such hunches last weekend, we had 18 winners, thus gaining enough courage to pick Saturday's headliners involving Ohio colleges thusly:

On Ohio State victory (by a couple touchdowns) over Wisconsin in a Western Conference tilt at Madison.

Miami to swamp Bowling Green at Bowling Green.

Cincinnati to edge (and we do mean edge) Dayton at Dayton.

Ohio U. decisively over Muskingum's Ohio conference leaders at Athens.

Oberlin, Ohio's only undefeated team last year, to stretch that string to nine in a row at the expense of Carnegie Tech's deemphasized Scots at Pittsburgh.

Western Reserve to avenge Ohio Wesleyan's only defeat of the season by taking Wayne U. into camp at Cleveland.

Toledo over Marshall at Huntington, W. Va.—but close, and Baldwin-Wallace's powerful Yellow Jackets to hand Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops their second straight loss.

In the first sessions of the weekend tonight we like Mount Union over Ashland in an Ohio conference tilt. Defiance over Franklin in Indiana; Ohio Northern to regain its winning ways at the expense of Findlay at Kenton; Wittenberg to mar Wilmington's search for its first triumph since returning to the gridiron after a 13-year lapse, and (flipping a coin) John Carroll over Xavier at Cincinnati in a struggle between two twice-beaten elevens, and unbeaten Wilberforce by a wide margin over Tuskegee Institute of Alabama at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

In other Saturday tilts, it looks like Akron over Case with ease, Kent State to humiliate Bluffton, Lawrence Tech on top of Cedarville, Denison over W & J at Granville, Otterbein by several touchdowns over Heidelberg's Student Princes at Westerville and Capital over Wooster in a tiff involving two victoryless combines at Columbus.

And again—by way of note to the peace-loving populace of Gambier and nearby Mount Vernon—Kenyon over Hiram!

Ex-Sergeant Leads In Montgomery Golf Open

By The Associated Press

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 11—Big Jim Ferrier, the ex-army sergeant who took up professional golf only a year ago, led the way into the second round of the $10,000 Montgomery Open today with a record 62 for the first 18 holes of play.

The tall, powerful Chicagoan, already one of the top money winners of the circuit, set a new low mark for the 6,350-yard Beauvoir country club course with his 10-under-par score, and equalled the record for a PGA-sponsored meet.

Dale Morey of Springfield, Ill., Dutch Harrison of Little Rock, and Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles each posted a 64, and one stroke behind were Vines' fellow townsman, George Fazio, and O'Neal (Buck) White, Greenwood, Miss.

"Babe" Keeps Going In Women's Texas Open

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 11—National amateur champion Mrs. George (Babe) Zaharias of Denver, after defeating Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., 5-4, today entered the semi-final round of the 12th annual Texas Women's Open Golf tournament.

Mrs. Zaharias will meet professional Betty Jameson of San Antonio, who eliminated Patty Berg of Minneapolis, 1-up.

In the second match, Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., meets Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles.

In the consolation flight, Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. will met Helen Dettweiler of Indio, Calif.

Mrs. H. T. Williford of Sherman, Tex. will play Jean Hopkins of Cleveland.

WMRN Broadcasts Return Sizzler

Headlined on the Cavalcade of Sports tonight is a ten-rounder that promises to be a dynamitin' bee. Welterweights Ruby Kessler (above) of Brooklyn and Pat Scanlon of Long Island meet again in New York!

In the third stanza of a recent thriller, Scanlon floored Kessler with a smashing right to the chin. But Ruby shook out the cobwebs, survived the round and subsequently gave Pat such a beating the contest was stopped.

Scanlon likes to fight. A colorful, roughhouse scrapper, he keeps banging away with both fists and willingly takes a punch to give one.

ENOS SLAUGHTER
Who's This Guy Williams?

For today's fifth game and last at Fenway Park, Dyer has Pollet ready to go after four days rest and confident he can succeed where he failed last time on Rudy York's 10th inning home run in the opening game.

Cronin passed out the word he will use either Mickey Harris, a left hander who lost to Brecheen in the second game, 3-0, or Joe Dobson, a right hander from Durant, Oklahoma who won 13 and lost seven during the regular season.

No matter who wins the Boston getaway game, Brecheen and Dave (Boo) Ferriss will hurl the sixth game at St. Louis Sunday. If it goes seven, they will take Monday off for selling tickets and play the big one Tuesday.

Upper Sandusky Star To Spark Heidelburg

"Bobby" Wolfe former Upper Sandusky football stand-out now playing for Heidelberg will be in the wing back slot for the Student Princes when they meet Otterbein college at Westerville tomorrow.

Wolfe has shown speed and shiftiness in carrying the ball and in his revamping of the Heidelberg backfield Coach Paul Hornemann believes that by shifting Wolfe to right half he will give added punch to Heidelberg's running plays. In last week's contest, which the Princes dropped to Muskingum College 15 to 0, Wolfe posted a 40 yard run, the longest of the game.

Ohio State Approves Rose Bowl Agreement

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11—Ohio State university announced today it had approved the proposed Rose Bowl agreement between the Big Nine and the Pacific Coast conference.

The announcement said official action was taken at an athletic board meeting Sept. 25 but was not reported formally to Western conference officials until yesterday since no time had been set.

The agreement would pit champions of the Big Nine and Pacific Coast conference three successive seasons, from 1947 through 1949, and approved "outsiders" against the West Coast champion in 1950 and 1951.

8 FARMERS SEEK CONSERVATION WORK

Approve Applications at Meeting of Supervisors.

Eight individual applications for soil conservation projects were approved by the board of supervisors of the Marion County soil conservation district at a meeting Thursday night in the office of Arthur H. Smith, county agricultural agent.

Three of the applications were from farmers in the Grand Prairie area who will join the Grand Prairie soil conservation group and five were from farmers in the Bowling Green area who will join the Bowling Green group. Farms represented in the eight applications total approximately 2,000 acres.

Supervisors also approved conservation plans recently completed for the Pleasant township group, which includes nine farms.

Present at last night's meeting were W. L. Williams, Marion county soil planner, Max Bigham, assistant soil planner, and Herschel Hecker of Mt. Gilead, district soil conservationist.

PILGRIMAGE

Mason, and Hugh F. Hay, Scout executive.

After the ceremony the President Harding home will be opened for inspection through the courtesy of the Harding Memorial association and the Dombaugh family, who have been identified with Scouting since its inception in the Harding area.

Refreshments will be served all Scouts, Cubs and leaders at the grounds of the President Harding home immediately following the pilgrimage.

Committee Members

The following men constitute the refreshment committee: Edward Hachten, Howard Iler, Delmar Brewer, Earl Fichtner, Willford H. Smith, James Craven, Charles Laist, W. E. Johnson, Walter Mayes, Clyde Rech, Eugene S. White, Francis D. Bowser and Joseph L. Schlosser.

Following the ceremony at the memorial the Girl Scouts will return to the Methodist church where tea will be served. They are asked to use the west entrance to the basement parlors where the tea will be served.

In charge of the tea is a committee composed of Mrs. Clifford M. Howser, chairman, Mrs. J. E. Frew, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. A. J. Wagner, Mrs. Paul Bachman and Miss Ruth Kramer.

Invited to join the local Scouts are troops and persons interested in Scouting from Cardington, Bucyrus, Ashley, Green Camp, Morral, Galion, LaRue, Upper Sandusky, Mt. Gilead, Edison, Prospect and Delaware. Brownies will not march in the parade.

Upper Rams To Play at Willard Tonight

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 11—The Upper Sandusky High school gridders will travel to Willard Friday night for a Northern Ohio League game. The Rams have won two and lost one in league play, while Willard has lost two and won only over the last place Bellevue Redmen. At present tied for second place with Bucyrus and Norwalk, Upper Sandusky will need a win this week to stay in the league race. Shelby is leading the league with no losses.

2 High School Gridders Die of Scrimmage Blows

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11—Two youthful high school football players died within a few hours of each other following practice scrimmage.

William Kenny, 17, St. John High school tackle, succumbed yesterday in Temple University hospital to head injuries suffered in grid practice less than 24 hours after 17-year-old Thomas Regan died in a suburban Germantown drug store. Earlier Regan participated in light scrimmage from which he had asked to be excused because of illness.

2 BUCKS RUN AFOUL OF "BOOKS" STRIFE

Declared Ineligible; Chuck Fazio Goes to Wisconsin Battle.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11—An Ohio State football squad shorn of two third-stringers whose scholastic records made them ineligible was enroute to Madison, Wis. today to make its Western Conference debut Saturday before a sell-out crowd of 45,000.

The two players lost for the season are Dick Jackson of Wellsville, an end and a letterman the last two seasons, and fullback Chuck Gandee of Berea, who lettered in 1945.

Gandee and Jackson were among about a half dozen Bucks who came to Coach Paul Bixler at the start of practice yesterday afternoon and reported scholastic difficulties.

Somewhere in the course of post-war readjustment confusion, the Bucks had forgotten to check scholastic eligibility in the light of the pre-war western conference requirements which were reimposed July 1.

A univeraity rule allows former servicemen to erase low marks made in the first quarter after their return to school, and this provided an "out" for the players concerned, except Gandee and Jackson who are not former GI's, Bixler reported after investigating.

Dave Bonnie of Columbus was nominated for Gandee's place among the 38 players Bixler took to Wisconsin; and Fred (Curly) Morrison of Upper Arlington replaced Jackson.

There were three other changes from the squad that made the trip to Southern California. Dick Slager of Columbus, who performed well for the junior varsity against Pittsburgh here Saturday, won the third-string quarterback spot from George Spencer, another Columbus lad. Chuck Fazio, Marion understudy for tackle Amling, was the third back on duty after missing the first two games because of injuries, a pulled knee cartilage. The third change was inclusion of Bob Jabbusch of Elyria, reserve left guard, who missed the Southern Cal game because of his father's death.

The Bucks held a brief workout yesterday and left Columbus by train about midnight. They were scheduled to workout today at the Janesville, Wis. high school field.

NOT GUILTY OF SPEEDING

John E. Price, 28, of near Marion, was found not guilty in municipal court Thursday to a charge of speeding. He was stopped Wednesday at 12:30 p. m. on North Prospect street.

Fans To Get Only Comparison Between Army, Texas Saturday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—College football moves into its fourth weekend in which the fans will get their only chance to draw a definite comparison between the two top teams—Texas and Army.

After a two-year reign as kingpin of the collegiate gridiron world, the Cadets have just been nudged out of the top spot in the national rankings of The Associated Press by the Terrific Texans. Unfortunately, the paths of these two juggernauts do not cross this season.

But while Army goes after its 22nd consecutive victory tomorrow in a battle with Michigan which ranks as the top attraction of the day, Texas will be hurling its high-geared offense against Oklahoma, the only team to be met by both the cadets and the Longhorns during the 1946 campaign.

Frighten Cadets

Two weeks ago, Oklahoma handed the Cadets their worst fright in two years before going down, 21-7. The Sooners held Army to 83 yards on the ground, while making 129 themselves, and 82 yards in the air.

Notre Dame, the country's No. 3 team right now, will entertain underdog Purdue in another Midwestern headliner while Illinois will be at Indiana, Minnesota at Northwestern and Ohio State at Wisconsin in a trio of Big Nine tilts.

The Midwest also will sport a couple of Big Six contests, sending Missouri to Kansas State and Kansas to Iowa State, a non-conference clash featuring Nebraska at Iowa and intersectional struggles taking Mississippi State to Michigan State and Idaho to Marquette.

3 Top Games in East

Three games that rate top billing in the east will find Columbia at Yale, Dartmouth at Pennsylvania and Duke at Navy. Other eastern highlights will be Colgate at Cornell, Harvard at Princeton, Penn State at Syracuse, Temple at Pittsburgh, Villanova at Holy Cross, Rutgers at NYU and Rhode Island State at Brown.

A game between UCLA, currently rated No. 5 in the nation, and up-and-coming Stanford at Los Angeles tops the Pacific Coast conference program, in which Southern California goes to Oregon State, Washington to Washington State and Montana to Oregon.

Other feature games in the west tomorrow will find St. Mary's at California, Colorado at Wyoming, Utah at Brigham Young and Montana State at Utah State.

Baylor at Arkansas

Baylor will be at Arkansas in the only Southwest conference tussle but Rice will go to Tulane and Texas A and M to Louisiana State for non-conference games with Southeast conference teams.

In the Southeastern conference it will be Mississippi at Georgia Tech and Florida at Vanderbilt, while Alabama and Tennessee, power in the loop, entertain lightly-regarded non-conference foes in Southwest Louisiana and Chattanooga, respectively.

Southern conference games will send Maryland to North Carolina, Clemson to Wake Forest, Davidson to North Carolina State and Virginia Tech to William and Mary. VMI will be at Virginia and Washington and Lee to West Virginia.

Kentucky and Georgia of the Southeastern conference tangle at Atlanta tonight. Other major pairings on tonight's schedule find Oklahoma A and M at Southern Methodist, Texas Christian at Miami (Fla.), Colorado Aggies at Denver, Fordham at Georgetown and South Carolina at Furman.

Annie Rooney — By Darrell McClure

MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS, ZERO - I NEVER SAW SO MANY LOVELY FLOWERS IN ALL MY WHOLE LIFE -
THERE MUST BE MILLIONS AN' MILLIONS OF 'EM - ALL TERRIBLE PRETTY - ALL SMELLIN' SO SWEET AN' PERFUMEY - AN' NOBODY OWNS THEM - NOBODY SEES THEM -
I FEEL KINDA SORRY FOR LOVELY LITTLE FLOWERS THAT GROW WHERE NOBODY KIN SEE THEM - IT MUST MAKE 'EM FEEL BAD ALL OVER -
SEEMS LIKE A KID WHO HAS ON A SWELL NEW PARTY DRESS WITH A GREAT BIG PINK RIBBON IN HER HAIR - WHERE NOBODY KIN SEE HER AN' NOBODY SEZ, 'MY GOODNESS, AIN'T SHE GRAND -

46—PUBLIC SALES

PUBLIC SALE
Wednesday, Oct. 16
COMMENCING AT
1:00 O'CLOCK SHARP
As I am going strictly into the registered Guernsey business I will sell the following high grade livestock at Public auction at my farm located 2½ miles southeast of Radnor or seven miles northwest of Delaware east of 203 on the Radnor and Troy township line road.
150 HEAD OF CATTLE 20
One Jersey cow, seven years old, will freshen Oct. 15th. One brindle cow, six years old, will freshen Oct. 20th. One Jersey heifer, three years old, coming with second calf about Oct. 17th. One Jersey and Guernsey cow six years old; one brindle cow, six years old; one brindle, eight years old, one Jersey and Guernsey heifer, 2½ years old, all giving good flow of milk.
One Brown Swiss heifer will freshen in March, also 11 yearling heifers that are due to be bred in December. One bull calf, six months old, eligible to register.
These cows have all been TB tested. Bangs tested and Mastitis free. The heifers have all been vaccinated for Bangs.
This is one of the good herds in Radnor Township. This herd has been bred by a registered Guernsey bull from the W. W. McKitrick and Son herd. All cows are high producers. You are cordially invited to inspect any of them before the sale.
HOGS
Eight Hampshire and Duroc gilts with pigs by side; one full blood Duroc sow with second litter of 11 pigs by side. These sows have all good litters. All sows are double immuned.
MACHINERY
One Oliver tractor 14-inch breaking plow, in good condition.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I SAW Helena Brixton's hand clench into a fist, and knew that it would take very little more rebuke for her to drive it into Katharine's face.

She is too pampered a woman to stand censure, and I knew that only her real concern for Sam, her sub-conscious knowledge that her conduct was endangering him was keeping her from open rebellion.

We found a quick and efficient ally in Carolyn however She put her arm around her mother's waist again and began to murmur apparently consoling words into her ears Then she led her out of the room, while Katharine busied herself with restoratives for Sam.

Beckoned Me

"He'll rest, now,' Katharine said at last, looking down at him

Then she crossed swiftly to me, and beckoned me to a far corner of the room, while Dr Twitchell seated himself near Sam's bed

"How long is this monkey-doodle business going to last?" my kinswoman demanded impatiently "I can't be responsible for his taking this journey if all my work is going to be undone by that unspeakable pest"

I gave her a grateful grin

"Thank you,' I said "You have saved me the trouble of thinking one up"

"I can do better than that," she said shortly "But you haven't answered my question'

"I think this particular transaction will take but a few minutes more,"I said consolingly "Helena will bring back a small package and give it to Sam Then you will ease her out as quickly as possible Sam will then transfer the package to me—with a few directions, I imagine—and I will take it to my father. That is all"

"I sincerely hope you're right,' she said "But if Sam gets excited again, I'm going to throw the person responsible through that window yonder And that means you too, Sister" she finished with twitching lips

'Who's afraid?" I hummed beneath my breath, and with a surreptitious shake of her fist, she went back to her patient.

It was but three minutes later when Helena and Carolyn came back into the room, and I immediately moved as far away from Sam as I could get

But Katharine stood inexorably by the bedside, and spoke in cold measured tones

"Please do not speak,' she said Give to your husband the thing he has asked of you and then go quietly away with your daughter I must get him ready for the journey, and he already is over-excited"

"Is he—is he—in any danger?' Helena faltered

Curt Answer

"Not if you can keep from upsetting him," Katharine said curtly

I noticed that Sam did not open his eyes or come to his wife's defense, and guessed that he was too exhausted for speech.

Helena held out a small compact envelope, about the size and thickness of an insurance policy, put it into her husband's hands and turned back to Carolyn, who once more put her supporting arm around her mother's waist

"Thank you, Helena," Sam said faintly. "Is this all of it?"

"Yes, Sam," his wife said meekly

"That's good," he whispered still without opening his eyes, and Helena turned away with tears beginning to stream down her face.

Sam did not see them, for Katharine literally rushed Sam's wife and her daughter to the door hustled them through it, and closed it upon them

Then she went back to the bedside

"Do you want to talk to Madge now" she asked, and he opened his eyes.

"Yes, yes, I do," he said and I joined Katharine without delay

Less Than Five Minutes

"I'll go outside again,' she said, "but I can give you less than five minutes.'

'We won't need that long,' Sam said, his voice tired and weak

When she had gone, he held out the package to me

'Give that to your father please, and ask him to guard it But, first, where is that suitcase which Marion had and the papers I mailed to her?'

"My father has all of them in safe-keeping," I said

"Good" he commented. "But this is the most important of all It is the key to the whole thing and I can't interpret it"
